

youngsters enjoying vacation fun in City Hall Park. Kids keep big disc spinning with hand power, slow power and fast power.

STAR-PROGRESS PHOTO

Work Rushed On Brea Blvd. Film Theater

Remodeling of the former movie theater on Brea Blvd. is progressing rapidly and Ed Davis of Scottsdale, Ariz., who has acquired the amusement place on a long term lease, expects to be able to open on or about Sept. 15. A Hollywood type opening starring movie stars is planned by Davis.

The theater is being completely rebuilt, Davis says, and the walls of the old structure being retained. The theater will have a new dimensional screen, lounge chairs and air conditioning.

The space occupied by the Brea Travel Service will become part of the new lobby. The travel service has moved further south on Brea Blvd.

The theater was purchased July from Lester Russell San Clemente by Norman Odlin, operator of the Orange Theater for the past 12 years.

When the building is completed it will feature first-class movies, Davis says.

New Exchange

Student Due

17-year-old Anastasia Andrikopoulos, a Greek Exchange student, will live at the home of Mr. Mrs. David Kreps at 499 E. St. arrived in New York Friday.

The new exchange student, who came from Salamis Attica, Greece, is expected to arrive in Brea sometime this week.

Dog Cool

Keep fresh water available at all times. A dog perspires via its tongue and can lose a lot of heat by breathing moist air out of its mouth.

Let him dehydrate. The heat of summer time enforces the growth of all kinds of diseases and many diseases are on the increase in the hot weather. Brea, respiratory infections, etc.

Nab Teen-ager in BB Gun Shooting

Another instance of BB guns being discharged in Brea was reported to the police Saturday when a teen-ager took a gun away from a teen-ager. Police are investigating other shootings in the area as well as cracking down on juvenile violators.

High School Capacity Is Not Reached

There are still adequate facilities for the anticipated new enrollment at Brea Olinnda Union High School this fall, but it is expected that the attendance will reach close to capacity of about 1,000 next year if the city growth continues at its present pace.

The new board of trustees of the Brea Olinnda Union High School District has been studying the situation and is expected to soon make a move in the direction of expansion to meet future needs.

Counselors at the high school will schedule all new students beginning Sept. 3, District Superintendent Frank O. Hopkins announced today. Incoming 9th grade students have already been scheduled and will report for an orientation program at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 6.

All students will report for classes at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 10, Hopkins said today.

Weather: 'The Man Says More Of Same

Little temperature change with sunshine through Tuesday and highs up to 98 degrees is the weather forecast for the area as a new August week opens. Low tonight looms between 58 and 64.

No precipitation is forecast.

Sunday's high reached 89 while this morning's low hit 63.

Greeks Planning

TACKLE NORTH STRIP

Planners Move to Beautify Brea Blvd.

The Brea City Planning Commission is determined to clean up and beautify Brea Blvd. and they have tackled what they call an unsightly stretch on the northern section of the street.

Several weeks ago W. Sheppard's petition for a use permit to establish a truck repair business was granted on condition that improvements be made on the strip in front of the property which he is sharing with another on a sublease basis.

Last Thursday night Sheppard appeared before the planners and said that his operation was being held up by the failure of the owner of the property to comply with the conditions.

Can't Beautify Whole Town

"I am not going to make the whole town pretty so that I can go into business here," Sheppard told the planners.

He declared that he was willing to clean up and beautify his share of the property.

Notables Attend Purl W. Harding Funeral Service

Many prominent Breans turned out Saturday morning for the funeral of Purl William Harding, 71, who had served until 1957 as secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The service was held in the Spivey and Roberts Mortuary Chapel and was conducted by Rev. Leslie Lowrey of Brea Christian Church.

Mr. Harding died Wednesday in the Fullerton Convalescent Hospital, where he had been for three years.

He leaves his wife, Verna, who operates the Brea Camera and Knit Shop on Brea Blvd. and four sisters in Michigan.

Council To Hear

but he couldn't take on the whole front.

The planners want the present fence covered with ivy or some other vine, the weeds removed, the grass cut and any materials stored in front of the building taken away.

No Reply From Owner

A letter has been addressed to the owner in Los Angeles, but no reply has been received.

Sheppard said that when he talked to the owner's agent he was advised that the property did not belong to him and it was suggested that he keep off that portion which he was not leasing.

In an attempt to resolve the problem and make it possible for Sheppard to begin operations the planners adjourned their meeting to this Thursday night when they expect to have most of those concerned with the situation present.

Chairman Thomas J. Kowalski has asked City Administrator A. W. Studebaker to determine if there is any action the city can take to force the owners and other tenants to clean up and beautify the strip along the boulevard.

It was suggested at last Thursday night's meeting that there might be some use being made of the property without permits.

The tract acquired by City of National Co. which Heritage Co. has a division. A small tract in the city mainder will all be of recreation within the years. During that time expects to erect housing units, bringing 20,000 new residents.

Construction D Howard Eichen of I announced that Heritage plan time schedule of first construction to about Dec. 18.

Of the total acreage 800 acres would be residential construction classifications and 4

There is a total of 1000 units proposed development. On one 171 855 R-1 units are planned and on another 118 tract 478 are planned and on a of 81 acres 243 R-1 units are built. There are 100 on which D (precise divisions) are planned. To be 3,492 on one tract of 800 on a second of 800 on a third of 13 acres on a fourth of 13 acres classifications. Much of would be garden type a

About 100 acres of the acreage in the tract

(Continued Col. 3—F)

Cyclist Reports Hit-Run Accident

Gary Garfield of 611 reports that his bicycle was struck and run over by a car operated by a driver in Brea Blvd. Friday afternoon.

Life's Little Dram

There is never a curtain or intermission for life's little dramas.

A little guy of about four was sitting on the grass with a neighborhood kid on Laurel Ave., when a large dog leaped across the lawn and kicked his face.

Frightened, the youngster bounded home, crying.

"What's the matter?" asked his mother who had been watching out the window. "Did the dog bite you?"

"No, but he tasted me," the little guy replied.

Visitors

Grandparents of a little fellow of nine and his six year old sister came from Iowa for a visit.

"Did you see Santa Claus this year?" asked grandpa.

"Sure did," said the little the living room and an

"If you smell something

Tacos

A man and his wife called a local Mexican restaurant ordered "three tacos to the car," in addition to the

they wanted served at the "Why don't you bring children in?" asked the waitress have high chairs and delighted to serve them

"But, you see they are children, but for our pet in the car," the man explained

One customer at the restaurant has a dog which a coke from a saucer plate fore him in the patio.

"Gosh!"

A local couple went to land to see "Gypsy."

Theater's condition betrays glam

By Leslie Stuart Carter

The stuccoed marquee over the squat building at 134 South Brea Boulevard reads simply "Brea." It looks like an old movie theatre even though that same marquee now proclaims "Calvary Chapel" and "Where Jesus is Lord."

As knowledgeable Breans are aware, it was an old movie house--and it didn't always have its largest attendances on Sunday mornings.

The old place looks forlorn, apologetic and abandoned today as it stands there mute in its familiar spot in downtown Brea awaiting its fate at the hands of the municipal demolition squad with the dreaded wrecking ball.

Sixty-five years ago, however, the draughty relic presented a wholly different demeanor. All Brea flocked onto what was then called Pomona Avenue just to see for itself that marvel that local newspapers called "a theatre equal to the finest in the state." For Breans--and for Americans in general, for that matter--1922 was a very good year for entertainment. Movies were action-filled and opulent: "Robin Hood," "Blood and Sand," "The Prisoner of Zenda." And people back then liked their songs heavy on the sentimental and melodic side so Tin Pan Alley came up with some immortals: "A Kiss in the Dark," "Wonderful One" and "L'Amour."

The "Red Lantern," pride of Brea and the first theatre in town, opened its doors on March 7, 1922. That exotic-sounding name, later to diminish to the more prosaic "Brea Theatre," had to do with the building's interior, an abundance of red Chinese lanterns. And they didn't throw open the place with a mere "grand opening" banner, either.

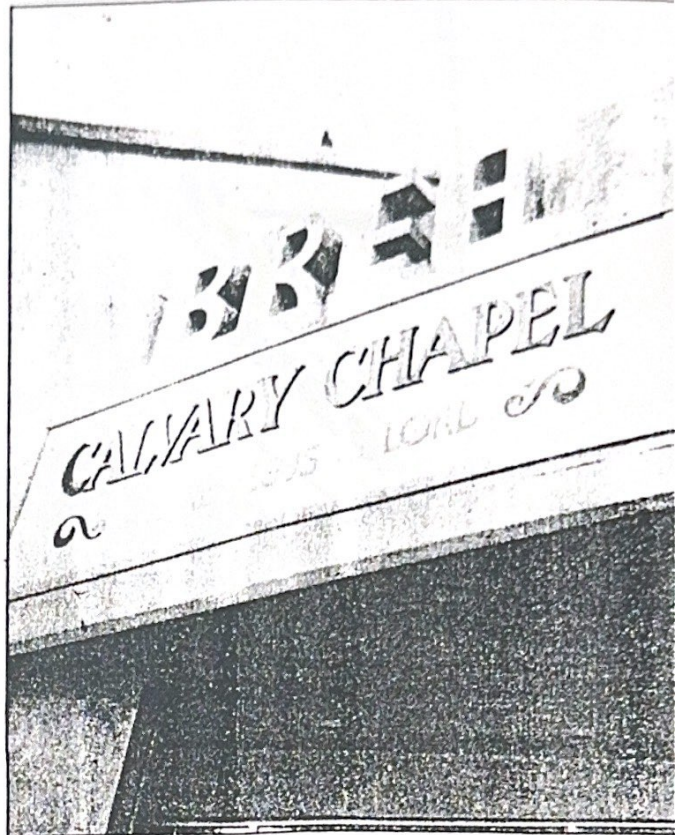

Floodlights swept the murky sky as the Brea Municipal Band oompahed away at a milling crowd of predominantly "shicks and their flappers," as a local paper reported.

The soda shop next door did a roaring trade in malts and sarsaparilla as the revved-up throng in the abiding joy of that night to remember.

Music wasn't confined to the Red Lantern's sidewalk because, during the intermission, those who weren't at the snack bar splurging their nickels and dimes on popcorn and Baby Ruths, marveled at the costly Robert Morgan pipe organ out there in front of the stage in all its glory. Perhaps the organist managed to sneak in a chorus or two of "L'Amours Toujours L'Amour." Folks loved a good, old-fashioned sing-song in those days with their pictures and there was no excuse for not joining in: the words were right up there on the

Brea Beat

October 8,

HEAVEN CAN WAIT— In earlier years the old Brea Theatre's busiest times weren't Sunday mornings. The former cinema now houses a Calvary Chapel, but may be redeveloped.

March night so long ago really should have been something to remember, too. But they put on something called "A Game Chicken" starring gorgeous Bebe Daniels. Actually, that first night audience didn't care. They weren't there for the movie, anyway. Just wanted to be a part of the thrill of it all. At 10 cents a seat they could afford it.

The Brea Investment Co. must have been overjoyed at the success of its venture in providing homey old Brea with a theatre to rival any that Fullerton or Anaheim could match for sheer sumptuousness. The company's founders, Felix Yiarite, Bill Culp and Abe Yost, shared a bit of show biz history, too, because as the years rolled by

Red Lar old R.L' didn't st sure did Sad to pile of r because just be a Then a next doc Brea E Leslie St native of articles f

tion betrays glamorous past

Brea Beat

October 8, 1986 BREA HIGHLANDER 25 3

HEAVEN CAN WAIT— In earlier years the old Brea Theatre's busiest times weren't Sunday mornings. The former cinema now houses a Calvary Chapel, but may soon be a victim of the wrecking ball as redevelopment progresses.

—News Photo by Mike Kltada

March night so long ago really should have been something to remember, too. But they put on something called "A Game Chicken" starring gorgeous Bebe Daniels. Actually, that first night audience didn't care. They weren't there for the movie, anyway. Just wanted to be a part of the thrill of it all. At 10 cents a seat they could afford it.

The Brea Investment Co. must have been overjoyed at the success of its venture in providing homey old Brea with a theatre to rival any that Fullerton or Anaheim could match for sheer sumptuousness. The company's founders, Felix Yiarite, Bill Culp and Abe Yost, shared a bit of show biz history, too, because as the years rolled by Red Lantern. A star wasn't born that night on the old R.L.'s stage, though, and that name "Gumm" didn't stick. But Francie's new one, Judy Garland, sure did.

Sad to relate that the little theatre will soon be a pile of rubble. But keep your fingers crossed because, who knows, over the rainbow there might just be a reprieve for the Red Lantern.

Then all we'd need would be another soda shop next door. I'll have a sarsaparilla. How about you?

Brea Beat is a regular feature for the Highlander. Leslie Stuart Carter is a 21-year resident of Brea and a native of London, England. He has written freelance articles for a variety of newspaper and magazines. We

FREE ★ ADMIT ONE ★ FREE

BREA THEATRE

134 SOUTH BREA BLVD. - BREA

GOOD ANY SUNDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY UNTIL MARCH 3, 1968

WHEN ACCOMPANIED BY ONE PAID ADULT ADMISSION

This Ticket Will Admit Two Persons For The Price Of One

One Person will See a Show Absolutely Free as a Guest als

TO

soned Virgil soft-sea-been the other cause layed later

prachhelm
Cole-mery
the
the er in Colsday

a we talk-be-Reno hit-
now, garco
teno, out-

ball ene-reather's
the
behave tranlight ding some and be each oth-

ESS

g to heir of era-are ern vers ner.

sing avo was no ed.

F
ic's
stlerhe at-pen es.

AND MISS LEVEY... the Lions co-operate with the American Legion and other local organizations in making possible free concerts here during the summer months by the Orange county symphony orchestra.

Fred Levey, new owner of the Brea theatre, was present with Bill Culp, was introduced and made a short talk.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR THE NEW HOME

The contract to build the new home, being constructed here by Brea Homes, Inc., has been let to VanTuyke and Blystone of this city, and work on the building started yesterday.

This is the first house to be provided under the sponsorship of Brea Homes, Inc., in its program to build and sell residences in this city. The organization has been working since late in 1935, in connection with the Federal Housing administration.

The new home, a model in many ways, is being built on the east side of South Orange street, just north of Date.

New Brea Theatre In The Near Future

TO OPEN UNDER NEW MANAGER SOON

The New Brea theatre is to open to the public in the near future. This is the announcement of Fred Levey, who has taken over the old Brea theatre, and is remodelling the entire building and the fixtures. Recently he has come to California from Iowa, where he has been in the moving picture theatre business for a number of years. He succeeds the Edwards, father and son, who have managed the local theatre for some time.

Mr. Levey, who is in Brea superintending the remodeling of the plant, says a new R. C. A. high fidelity sound is being installed. He is having a new front placed in the building and will have it all repainted, with other repairs wherever necessary.

"I will call the theatre 'The Brea,'" says Mr. Levey. There will be one admission price always of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under 12 years of age, any seat in the house. He adds that he will show the following products:—M.G.M., Fox, Warners, R. K. O., Universal, Paramount and Columbia pictures.

Citizens of Brea have always been loyal to the local theatre, and business men of the city have regarded it as a business asset to the city and community. All will be pleased with the announcement that it is to be continued with the many improvements installed.

several years... employed by Chancellor Gaudfield Midway Oil company, Ollinda, as time-keeper.

The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, from the chapel, Rev. L. C. B. Hill, vicar of St. Andrews Episcopal church, officiated. Cremation followed the services, with the intention of returning the ashes to Travers' native England.

Basabe Damage Suit Is Set For Trial

WOMAN KILLED IN COLLISION IN FULLERTON

Juan Basabe, here with the Times-Mirror company, has been notified that his suit for $25,000 damages against John W. Wallace of Anaheim has been set for trial on April 29. Damages are asked for the death of his wife, Mrs. Escolastica Basabe, who was killed instantly last December when her car and one driven by Wallace collided in Fullerton.

A jury will hear the evidence in the case, filed shortly after Mrs. Basabe's death. Delay in the hearing was occasioned when counsel for both sides asked postponement of Superior Judge H. G. Ames, before whom it was set for hearing.

Basabe asks $20,000 for general damages, which include the salary of a housekeeper he said he employed to care for the home following his wife's death.

EASTER DINNER PARTY

Mrs. Frank Bickel and Mrs. Roger Perdue were hostesses at dinner Easter Sunday at the Bickel home, 210 North Orange. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schultz and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dayton of Los Angeles; Robert Drest of Hollywood; Mrs. Ruth Blackburn of Long Beach; Cecil Simmons of U. S. S. Chicago; Miss Marian Bush, Messrs. Ben Blanchard, Roger Perdue and Frank Bickel, Frances and Robert Bickel.

HAVE BABY SON

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Peterson of Banning have a baby son, who was born Easter morning in a Los Angeles hospital. Mrs. M. F. Wilkins of this city, who has been with her daughter the past four weeks, has returned to Brea.

CHANGED ALL THE PLANS

All plans in regard to Fullerton's double-barreled program for observing the city's birthday and also the annual Valencia orange show, have been changed. The show will not be staged, it is understood, until next fall, when everything will be in charge of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

it was only Mrs. Peterkin calling to find out if Ed was there; they knew how to take care of that. Finally, the appearance of Mrs. "Pete," with "blood in her eyes," brought the "meeting" to a hasty adjournment.

Refreshments of cream cocoanut and chocolate pie and coffee were served, with Mrs. Elmer Guy in charge. Service was made from the movable service cart with the guests seated in foursomes at the card tables. The remainder of the evening was devoted to cards and dancing. Music was furnished by the Brea Electric Company under direction of Frank Holly.

Although the entire club sponsored the party, which was given as a slight gesture of the appreciation its members feel for the loyal support of the Lions in the club house building campaign, details were arranged by the program committee, with Mrs. C. Glenn Curtis as chairman. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. J. J. Holland, Mrs. Stella Keene and Mrs. E. H. Rodger. Assisting them in providing the evening's entertainment and other arrangements were Mrs. W. W. Hay, Mrs. J. D. Neula and Mrs. Elmer Guy.

The party marked the first informal meeting of the two sponsoring groups to be held in the new club home.

Like Breaking Home Ties For Bill Hay

DECLARES HE WILL BE BACK FREQUENTLY

It's like breaking home ties for W. W. Hay to leave Brea on May 1 for his new position at Union Oil company headquarters in Los Angeles. "There's just no other way to express it," he says. "But you're not rid of me by a whole lot," he added, "for I expect to be in Brea frequently and be considered one of the boys as always."

It is recalled by Mr. Hay that when he goes to Los Angeles on May 1 it will be just thirteen years to a day since he came to his present position, then at Santa Fe Springs, as superintendent of the Los Angeles pipeline division of the Union Oil company. It was then not long until he was living in Brea. His promotion to the Los Angeles headquarters makes him the chief of all the pipeline divisions of his company.

Prior to taking his present position Mr. Hay was located in San Luis Obispo for the Union Oil company, as superintendent of the northern pipeline division. Mrs. Hay and their children will remain in Brea until the end of the summer prior to moving into Los Angeles.

In order to give proper distinction of this issue of the Progress with all these $1 day advertisements, the publishers are putting out sample copies this throughout this entire community. This is done for the benefit of advertisers and to place before public the Progress' own $1 offering of the paper for two months for that amount.

The idea of holding $1 day Brea was launched several weeks ago and has since been under consideration by the merchants' committee. Several meetings have been held, including that of Friday night. There were the following present:—Albert F. Laing, C. Close, Frank Holly, Bill Watson, Jap Burch, G. C. Folkemer, J. Goudge, J. A. Purvis, Ed Peter Dewey Brown, Mrs. Elsie M. and Harry Ray.

All To Co-operate

The $1 day was discussed at length. Each one present was enthusiastic and declared his ready to co-operate. Authority was voted for Mr. Laing and his merchants' committee to go ahead work out the details. With this in view Mr. Laing called Chamber of Commerce directors together at lunch at Granny's Monday noon, where further talks were discussed and all agreed upon.

Mr. Laing says he has talked with additional merchants to those who attended the Friday evening conference, and in every instance the merchant has been enthusiastic to go ahead.

JAMES W. WEAVER DIES IN WHITTIER

James W. Weaver, veteran citizen of Whittier, died at his home there Tuesday. He was the father of James Weaver of La Habra prominent in that city and known also in Brea as one of the directors of the Oilfields Nat-

STILL WITH UNION OIL

Frank Wharton, former Brea resident who moved recently from Ventura to Ojai, is still with the Union Oil company at the latter place sales agent, a position similar to the one he held at both Brea and Ventura. He was prominent in Brea's civic life while living in this city.

LOOKS LIKE ARMY WILL BUILD THE I

Although the Santa Ana project, for water conservation, has been thrice defeated at polls by Orange county citizens the expenditure of $16,000,000 for this purpose has been approved by the United States army engineers and recommended to Congress for enactment.

Miss Ruth Wilkins who visited over her Easter vacation on the Wilkins ranch near Escondido has returned here to high school.

NEWSLETTER

401 S. Brea Boulevard
Brea, California, 92621

Vol. I, No. 1

September, 1983

RED LANTERN THEATER

BREA'S FIRST

In the early 1920's several negotiation attempts were made with outside promoters to build a theater within the City of Brea. These efforts having failed, several local men who had lived in Brea for many years, formed a company called the Brea Investment Company. Felix Yriarte was named president. Also involved were William "Bill" Culp and Abe Yost.

The late Lois Muzzall Smith also writes, in addition to the above, that the construction was started in the Fall of 1921, with T.H. Fowler of Santa Ana as the contractor, and completed by March of 1922.

Opening night was March 7, 1922, Mrs. Smith, a resident of Brea since 1911, attended the opening and she has written, "It was a gala affair; large flood lights lit up the sky, revolving in every direction. The Brea Municipal Band played before the doors were opened for the milling crowd that stood around the streets waiting to be admitted. This was Brea's first showplace of that time. As the name Red Lantern would signify the decor was of Oriental motif and lovely to see, and the Robert Morgan pipe organ melodious to the ear."

She adds, "My notes tell me that the billing for the opening night was a stage attraction starring Bebe Daniels in a film by the name, "A Game Chicken!"

Mrs. Smith further relates that the Red Lantern Theater was a popular dating place of the young people of Brea, often followed by ice cream at Stewarts Confectionary Shop next door. One of the Red Lantern's most notable stars appearing on stage was Frances Gumm, later known as the famous Judy Garland.

Look at the picture above and note the sign and the light overhead which had red glass to carry out the theme. The ceiling lights were similar and hung down like Chinese lanterns. Looking out over the audience a huge cross-legged Buddha with a red light in the middle of its forehead was attached to each side wall. The theater was located on the east side of Brea Blvd., a few doors north of Birch St. After it eventually closed, the building was remodeled and is now the site of Calvary Chapel Church. ^{used by}
~~The building was demolished~~
^{in 1987.}

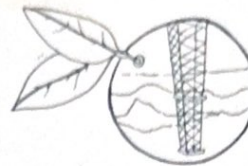

NEXT GENERAL MEETING

September 30, 1983

The next general meeting of the Society will be held at the Old City Hall at 7:30 in the evening.

PROGRAM: A prominent 20 year resident of Brea, Jack Rider, will be our guest speaker. Jack is the publisher and owner of PACIFIC OIL WORLD magazine which this year celebrated its 75th year of publishing; thus it qualifies as the second oldest oil magazine in existence. He is a native Californian, a graduate of U.S.C., and has been involved in petroleum publishing since 1954. Jack and his wife, Schaloiaas, have four children. He once was advertising agent for Shaffer Tool Works and is a member of the Brea Historical Society.

TOPIC: Development of the Oil Industry.

Brea, Ca. 92621
401 S. Brea Blvd.
Brea Historical Society

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The purpose of the Brea Historical Society is to collect and preserve historical material relating to the City of Brea.

On a recent trip to Northern California, my wife and I visited several historical sites including the Oakland Museum, San Francisco Cable Car Museum and the Martinez Museum in Martinez, California.

Martinez is an old community with its beginnings in 1849, and the original and present site of Contra Costa County seat. It has a long and exciting history. The Martinez Historical Society was fortunate enough to acquire a Victorian home. I say fortunate, because the owners were about to tear it down to provide parking spaces. People of the community rallied around the cause and saved this heritage as a sample of late 19th century architecture, and a museum site for the people of Martinez.

This brings me to my message to you. Although Brea is not as old as Martinez, we do have a heritage that needs to be preserved. We need to speak out with enthusiasm and express to others our goal to save historical material in order to provide an understanding of former customs, activities, and personalities of Brea, and to establish a museum in Brea to house them and provide a center for historical research.

Remember, some day Brea will be as old as Martinez is today, and the adults and children of today and tomorrow deserve the opportunity to explore the past and learn about the heritage of the town in which they live.

The realization of this goal of the Brea Historical Society can make a positive cultural and educational contribution to the City of Brea, its schools and its people.

Karl Fanning

BREA HISTORICAL SOCIETY PROGRESS REPORT

Brea's story, as told during the recent Historical Exhibit at the Civic Center Gallery, revived interest in reactivating the Brea Historical Society. Therefore, in January, 1983, a meeting was held for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and officers to make and carry out plans for the future. The Board has been meeting on Wednesdays at 9:00 A.M. at the Old City Hall. Incidentally, anyone who wishes to attend is welcome.

We have established a purpose for the Society (see President's message) have visited Costa Mesa's and Tustin's Museums, the Heritage Room at the Anaheim Public Library, Buena Park's Society, and The First American Title Insurance Company Historical Library in order to learn techniques of museum technology. We have developed a system for keeping track of the many negatives, pictures, documents and artifacts we have received and expect to receive in the future.

Not the least of our activities, was our appearance before the Brea City Council to request a space in the Old City Hall as a site for a museum. In addition, we have held two general meetings for the membership, and, with this writing, are publishing our first NEWSLETTER.

WELCOME TO MEMBERS

We would like to welcome all of you who have joined The Society, and thank you for putting your trust in the directors and officers listed below. Your dues and contributions are tax deductible since The Brea Historical Society is a non-profit Corporation organized under the laws of the State of California.

President
Karl Fanning

Vice President
Dean F. Millen

Secretary-Treasurer
Betty Straw

Directors
Dyer Bennett
Karl Fanning
Dean F. Millen
Frank Schweitzer
Catherine Seiler
Betty Straw
Dorothy Yates

COMING

- Sept. 15-16—Geo. O'Brien in "True Heaven."
- Sept. 17—Wm. Haines in "Man's Man."
- Sept. 18—Reginald Denny in "Clear the Deck."
- Sept. 19-20—"The Barkers."
- Sept. 21—Bob Steele in "Laughing at Death."
- Sept. 21—Bill Cody in "Slim Fingers."
- Sept. 22-23—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "Jazz Age."
- Sept. 24—Dane & Arthur in "China Bound."
- Sept. 25—Jack Muhlheim in "Two Weeks Off."
- Sept. 26-27—"Mother Knows Best."
- Sept. 28—Glenn Tryon in "Kid's Clever."
- Sept. 28—Ken Maynard in "California Mail."

CAPITAL PRIZE
 Now on display in lobby of theatre, to be given away
 Tuesday, September 3rd.

Culp Sells
Every Insurance
That is Written

JAMES E. RUSSELL
JEWELER
Shur-Fit
 Unbreakable Crystals
 Fitted While You Wait
 All Odd Shapes
 113 West Ash Street
 Brea, Calif.

RED LANTERN THEATRE

Brea, Phone 10

Two Complete Shows Every Evening

7 and 9 P. M.

--Program--
September 1 to 14

Tuesday, September 3

Capital Prize

To Be Given Away

Also Five Acts of Good

Vaudeville

and

Feature Picture

Your Home Should Come First
See
The Cuming Furniture Store
of Brea
For Your SHADES, LINOLEUM and HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Leave Your Kodak Films
Here
To Be Developed
CLOSE'S DRUG STORE
(Next door to Post Office)

HARRY Ryan MENS' SHOP
BREA Calif.

PROGRAM

Sunday and Monday, Sept. 1 and 2
"Collegians"

Cast in
"Honeymoon Flats"

also Bill Cody
in
"The Tip Off"

Tuesday, September 3
Capital Prize
To be Given Away
Vaudeville
and

Feature Picture

Wednesday, September 4
JAMES O. CURWOOD'S
"The Yellow-Back"
also
Jack Hoxie and Comedy

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 5-6
Victor McLaglen
in

"Captain Lash"
"Collegians" and News

Saturday, September 7
"Beautiful But Dumb"

with Patsy Ruth Miller

also Tom Tyler

in
"Pride of Pawnee"

Saturday's Matinee
"Pride of Pawnee"
"Diamond Master"
(New Serial)

Sunday and Monday, Sept. 8-9
Lon Chaney

in
"East is East"

with Lupe Valez and Estelle Taylor

Tuesday, September 10

Vaudeville

and Alice Day

in
"Night Life"

Wednesday, September 11

"Man, Woman,
and Wife"

with Norman Kerry and Marion Nixon

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 12-13

Wm. Boyd

in
"Flying Fool"

Comedy and News

Saturday, September 14

Ken Maynard

in
"California Mail"

also
"Hero of the Circus"

Saturday Matinee
"Hero of the Circus"
"Diamond Master" No. 2

COURTESY Woodruff's QUALITY SATISFACTION

Orange County Transfer

We Deliver the Goods
Any Place—Any Time

Phone Brea 104

E. H. Peterkin

ELMER HOLCOMB
Fresh Fruits and Vegetables

G. H. GHEEN For QUALITY MEATS

HOGUE'S GROCERY
"Where the Customer is Always Right."