no legal right to exist is no reason they should not continue. A judge is not supposed to know the law better than a lawyer. All lawyers think they are right and it is an honor to win the case even if it is wrong.

The Jurors had the law explained from both sides and gave a verdict accordingly, 10 for acquittal and 2 for conviction; those two thought exactly like Mills: that the club had no right to exist and because they thought so they voted accordingly.

What have they accomplished in Santa Ana and what are they going to do at Orange? I suspect that even at Orange the people will not all think alike.

As far as I am concerned I prefer high license saloons under police protection. Closing I desire to state that I believe the members of that jury, and also many members of the clubs, are just as good, patriotic citizens and do as much for the upbuilding of the town and spend as much money here as this man Mills—we call him a man and do not accuse him of being a beast as he classifies many good citizens. There are many men in this community who belong to clubs that I would trust as soon as I would Mills.

PUEENTE OIL WELLS.

BREVITIES.

From The Tribune Correspondent.

The people at Puente Oil Wells spend upwards of $1,000 a month with Fullerton merchants. They also happen to be located just outside the Orange County line, hence have no votes in Orange County. They have patiently endured the worst roads of any in the county. They do not ask much; fill up chock holes in the roads and put in culverts at natural water courses so that a traveler can pass over the road in the dark without constant danger of a smash up.

There has not been a dollar spent on our road in the last one and a half years.

Having no votes we will not petition Supervisors but will ask the merchants of Fullerton to see to the betterment of our road. A new town started north from us and connected to us by a splendid roadway only 5 miles away has already got nearly all of the railway traffic to Los Angeles that the Santa Fe at Fullerton formerly held and we hear of some live business men looking to locate there.

Reckless hunters from valley towns are likely to receive short shrifts for starting brush fires. Our men have fought fires until their patience is exhausted.

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. R. G. Don's Monthly Review of Trade Conditions February in Southern California.

Business throughout the country is generally ahead of last year in volume. February bank clearings are largest on record and gross railway earnings are enormous. Foreign trade continues very heavy. Prices for commodities did not alter materially during the month.

In our immediate district present business conditions are most favorable. The coming of the rain has relieved the anxiety of the agriculturist and proved a boon to stockmen. Grain which had been of slow growth on account of unusually cold, dry weather of January and February was beginning to turn yellow and pasturage was short. Now with just average spring rains and sunshine the large crops predicted earlier in the season for Southern California will be insured.

Work in bean and beet field is progressing with renewed confidence. The strike of the beet thinning crews delayed work somewhat at Oxnard, where acreage is larger than ever before.

It is now conceded that the orange crop suffered little injury from frost this season, but that lemons were considerably damaged. Deciduous fruit trees and vines were benefitted by cold and are reported in excellent conditions, just bursting into bloom in many localities.

Celery shipments for season have ended. About 950 carloads went forward from the peatlands, quality and prices good.

Orange shipping is now brisk, 125 to 150 carloads daily. Records show that to date about 1,000 carloads less have been shipped this season than last. Cold weather and cheap price for apples have affected to some extent eastern orange market.

It is estimated 1/2 Lima bean crop still remains in this section unsold. However, the spring trade demand, it is thought, will easily absorb this without lowering present price quotations, leaving market well cleaned up for new crop.

Cured fruit market is quiet. Quotations nominal in absence of wholesale transactions. The directors of California Raisin Grower's Association are formulating a plan of reorganization for term of five years which will soon be submitted to growers.

The California Honey Producer's Association, which formed in December along the lines of Southern California Fruit Exchange has now 13,000 colonies pledged and promises to be a factor in the bee-keeping interests of the coming year.

Locally trade conditions were never better. Travel to the city has been unusually large and trade has been materially stimulated.

Building continues active, a steady growth meeting demand. Work on projected suburban lines show no cessation and one by one they are reaching completion. Total resources of all National banks in Los Angeles have increased 3 1/2 per cent the past three months.

Failures for month, four. Liabilities $8,700; assets, $5,300. This does not include failure of house with headquarters in San Francisco. Failures for same month last year, four. Liabilities, $11,000; assets, $10,000.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Kendrick & Stafford, druggists.

The Southern Pacific sells 25 ride tickets between Whittier and Los Angeles for $4.25, 17 cents per trip. They also sell monthly school tickets good for 60 rides for one individual at $5.00.

"HOW DARE YOU TOUCH MY HAT?" SAYS WOMAN AFTER BLINDING MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The turn of a woman's head may cost Daniel Mack, a vaudeville actor, his eyesight.

While Mack was making his way through an after-theater crowd on Market street last night a woman beside him turned her head. The long pin projecting from her hat passed through Mack's right eyelid, through his nose and into his left eye.

"You brute, how dare you touch my hat?" said the woman as she felt the tug on her headgear.

Without looking around she wrenched the pin free and disappeared.

Physicians ordered Mack placed in a dark room.

When the boys appeared in court this morning they both made a full confession and pleaded guilty. The Edison company had six charges against them, but only one was pushed because of their age. Both Bryant and Herzkofer are mainly looking fellows and are students at one of the Los Angeles colleges.

It is the belief of immigration officials that the port of Los Angeles will leap in two years from practical little importance from the immigration standpoint to the leading gateway of the Pacific coast.

The public service commission asked the council yesterday for authority to create districts and assess them for water main extensions. This new policy, a radical departure from the fixed custom, is urged because of the enlarged obligations. In the judgment of the board it is unjust to ask the rate payers to bear the great cost to fall on the department because of extraordinary preparations for the Owen River water.

LAST SPIKE

Car Running and Celebration in full Swing

Banquet Tonight at Odd Fellows' Hall—Notes.

A "genuine imitation" silver spike was driven by C. W. Clayton, president of the board of city trustees, yesterday at 10:10 a. m. at this end of the new electric line. It is a curious fact that the first spike was driven at the same hour on October 3rd by Alessandro Modena, showing that the company's estimate of 30 days for building the road was very close. This coincidence in time was purely accidental, which makes it the more remarkable. Mr. Clayton had the able assistance of Dr. W. V. Coffin and L. M. Baldwin, besides a lot of gratuitous advice from a large crowd which gathered to see the ceremony and have their pictures taken. Photographers Baker and Ramsay made some good pictures. Captain Charles Kinsler also drove a spike for the Uniform Rank just to show that the K. P.'s could drive nails. The genial captain and the assistant of S. W. Barton and vice-mayor of Los Angeles, and although he pattered the nail somewhat above the nail in a very creditable manner. The News has the spike which wasn't driven—it hangs in our office window and may be seen at any time.

THE SCHEDULE

Cars began running this morning, the first car leaving at 6:30, well filled with people. The schedule is as follows: Leave Whittier at 6:30, 7:15, 7:45, 8:15, 9:10, 10:45, 11:45, 12:30, 1:15, 2:15, 3:15, 4:15, 5:45, 6:45, 7:30, 8:30, 9:15, 10:45, 11: the theatre car. Leaving Los Angeles: 6:15, 6:45, 7:15, 8:15, 9:15, 10:45, 11:30, 12:30, 1:15, 2:15, 3:15, 4:45, 5:45, 6:30, 7:30, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:30. Fare for round trip will be 50 cents; 35 cents one way. Ten rides for $2.00. 500 mile tickets good for all time and for more than one person on any of the company's lines, except Mt. Lowe, $6.25. Long Beach round trip tickets $1.00.

NOTES.

Miss Ellen McKinney of Norwalk is visiting her sister Mrs. H. Hooper.

Whittier chapter, R. A. M., was organized Wednesday night with about twenty charter members.

Rev. Will A. Betts has just purchased a handsome new rig, horse, buggy and harness, neat and troppily looking.

Two enormous pumpkins, raised by D. J. Wood on his Rincon ranch, are on exhibition at A. H. Gregg & Co.'s office. They show what Rincon soil can do.

J. J. Townsley will soon move to the new shop, erected for him by A. J. Stevens, opposite the present site. J. M. Smith will run the shop as a shoeing shop after Mr. Towale's removal.

L. F. T. wler and J. W. Rank, who left Whittier Monday for Modesto on a hunting trip, have returned and are well pleased with the country. Mr. Rank purchased five acres of land in the vicinity of Modesto as an investment.

L. T. Adell and wife have moved into the rooms just west of the News office, and have remodeled the rear for living rooms, leaving the front to be used as a milk depot for Adell Brothers. The chance to get fresh, sweet milk and cream any time in the day will doubtless be appreciated by Whittier people.

The Sans Souci club gave their opening dancing party on Friday evening, Scheneman & Blanchard's orchestra of five pieces furnishing music good enough to make a wooden Indian try to dance. The decoration committee had spent much time and thought on their decorations and the result was very lovely. Crepe paper in pink and green were used in profusion, the stage was a mass of greenery and there were various cozy nooks arranged in the corners. The punch was served from a bower of green, smilax, and pink passion flowers combining very charmingly. The members of the Sans Souci club may well feel proud at the successful success of their

ORANGE CO

20th YEAR. NUMBER 50.

419 N. Broadway, SANTA ANA, CAL.

WORK COMMENCED ON ELECTRIC TO OLINDA, RICHFIELD AND YORBA

The Pacific Electric has a large force of men working on the extension of its line through the east end of La Habra valley to North Placentia and Olinda, and the work will be rushed until the road finally reaches a point above Yorba. For several days about thirty carloads of railroad building material has been standing on the side tracks at La Habra but the men and teams did not begin work until Wednesday. As soon as this road is completed the people of Brea Canyon, Upper Placentia, Olinda, Yorba-Linda, Richfield and Yorba will have direct connection with Los Angeles by this new electric road and they will no doubt extend a liberal patronage to it.

New Town for La Habra Valley

A town to be called Randolph will be established on an extension of the Pacific Electric railway's La Habra line, to be constructed at once between Pillsbury and Yorba, a distance of about ten miles.

The town will be near Pillsbury and twenty-three miles from Los Angeles. It will be built by a company to be organized by H. E. Huntington, Epes Randolph, A. M. Chaffey, George Chaffey and W. J. Hole.

A tract of 200 acres has been purchased for $100,000 as a site for the town. An additional $100,000 will be expended in erecting brick business buildings, providing street improvements and water for domestic purposes.

The town will become the home of a large number of men employed in directing operations in adjoining oil fields.

It is expected that extensive development of the notably fine orange and lemon lands of the La Habra valley will follow the building of the railway extension.

SENTIMENT FAVORING RIVER PATROL MANIFESTLY STRONG

The appearance before the board of supervisors of the Associated Chambers of Commerce appointed to the board concerning the establishment of a patrol of the Santa Ana river to keep down the growth of brush, brought out an interesting discussion of the plans to form a protection district to take care of the Santa Ana river from Yorba to the point near Santa Ana where the New-hart protection district begins. The committee, A. A. Mills of Anaheim, C. G. Jern of Orange and H. C. ...

ORANGE MARKET

The orange market has taken on new life, and quite a flurry of orders are reported by shippers, especially from northwest points, San Francisco, says the Fruit World.

Now that weather conditions have again become somewhat straightened out and the prospects are for favorable "winter" weather, the California oranges are now on the market in large quantities. The orange consuming days are now on at hand, and with only 822 cars oranges forwarded the past week compared with 1,888 cars the same week last season and the total output for the season 1,921 cars behind that of last season. Some of the shippers have been anxiously waiting for the active demand to put in appearance and the orders were promptly taken care of.

Conditions in general are very favorable. The smaller interior markets are taking fruit readily. Elmer and Porto Rico are winding up rapidly and the situation now depends wholly upon the quality of the crops being offered the quality commanding the market.

As will be noted by some of the prices received in the auction markets the past week buyers are on quite vice for quality and are willing to pay top prices.

The severe winter throughout the east and south has had its effect on the early marketing of berries, small fruits, and the season is proving to be much later than usual. This will have a tendency to strengthen the situation in oranges, and the strong tone of the market induces shippers to such an extent that a rush of shipments results that is every reason to look for a strongly strong market.

At the present rate of shipment there are less than 125 cars left shipped daily, and this amount can be materially increased without glutting the market, according to prominent shippers who know conditions at all points.

We hear of a number of buyers in the Highland district, but prices have not been mentioned. Navels from the Pomona district showing a spot count from 11.30 to 11.40 being quoted at 11.30 cash, fruit showing about 15 per cent. damage is quoted in cents the guaranteed fancy orchard run Highland 11.80. Strictly extra from San Gabriel 11.60. Standard 11.65 cash. Landsburg 11.65.

The committee, A. A. Mills of Anaheim, C. G. Jern of Orange and H. E. Jern of Santa Ana, received the assurance of the board that the board would do all it could in river protection work.

Mr. Mills stated that a patrol could watch for trees likely to fall into a flood, and when brush or trees lodged against bridges or in such manner as to endanger the banks could do much in the way of protection.

Supervisor MacMullen stated that he met with a number of Yorba men at the Santa Fe bridge to confer concerning protection work. He said their conclusion was that an engineer should be hired to say just what work ought to be done.

Mr. Mills stated that the movement toward forming a protection district from Westminster to the north had

LA HABRA

Among the fertile valleys of California that have attracted the attention of tourist and homeseeker, the valley of La Habra occupies a prominent place. It lies four miles north of Fullerton and extends east and west for a distance of eight miles, and is about two miles in width. A low range of hills borders on the north and the Puente hills on the north. The pleasant intermingling of mountain and valley scenery, the many beautiful homes and flower gardens, the kept orchards and shady groves of ornamental shrubbery, make an enchanted spot that creates a lasting impression. In a few years it has been demonstrated that this valley produces among the finest walnuts, oranges, lemons, grapefruit and various kinds of delicious fruits to be found in the state. While several hundred acres have been planted to trees, there are thousands of acres that produce vast quantities of barley and hay. The soil is deep, fertile and rich, and capable of producing anything grown in the temperate zone. Domestic water is excellent and abundant, and the East Whittier Land & Water Co. has expended $100,000 extending its system throughout the valley. Along the bottom lands there are springs, and near Coyote hills water is only two feet from the surface. The depth to the water varies at different places in the valley from a few feet to a hundred or more. There are numerous wells and pumping plants run by electric and gasoline engines. As the Edison Electric Co. has its line through this valley, power can be had at a very reasonable rate. Much building and improvements of various kinds are constantly going on in the valley and it is destined to become one of the most thickly populated sections of the state. The electric road will be completed through the valley by Christmas, which will mean the doubling in value of every acre of land in that prosperous valley. It is believed there will be a good seed town in La Habra within five years. There is no better vegetable or fruit section in the state. Good land is very reasonable in price.

George E. Boyd died at his home in this city last Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, after an illness of three weeks, of heart trouble. Mr. Boyd was a large stockholder and general manager of the Orange County Preserving Co., and a prominent man in business circles. He was about forty-five years of age. He leaves a wife and one child, a daughter nine years of age. The funeral services, held Sunday, were conducted by the Masonic order, of which he was an honored member.

Over 17,000 cans of tomatoes in one day is the record of the cannery during one-day list week and required about seventeen tons of tomatoes to fill the cans. This was the biggest day's run of the season and filled a car. Eighty hands are employed at the cannery and several cars of canned peaches and pears are sent out weekly.

The thirteen-acre walnut and orange ranch owned by L. A. Lothman was traded last week to D. Keller, for Pasadena property, on a valuation of $1,000.

The musical entertainment, Friday night, given by the Anaheim band boys, was an amusing and creditable affair, being largely attended. The proceeds, amounting to $200, will be used by the band boys in purchasing uniforms, etc.

John Engman is making preparations to build a $2,000 residence on his lot on West Ninth street.

Two carloads of the season's canned goods were sent out by the Preserving Co. last week.

Walnut growers outside the association are selling their walnuts at thirteen cents.

Harry Bay, of Fullerton, has charge of Stern Bros. store during Herman Stern's vacation.

It lies four miles north of Fullerton and extends east and west for a distance of eight miles, and is about two miles in width. A low range of hills borders on the north and the Puente hills on the north. The pleasant intermingling of mountain and valley scenery, the many beautiful homes and flower gardens, the fruit orchards and shady groves of ornamental shrubbery, make an enchanted spot that creates a lasting impression. In a few years it has been demonstrated that this valley produces among the finest walnuts, oranges, lemons, grapes, fruit and various kinds of delicious fruits to be found in the state. While several hundred acres have been planted to trees, there are thousands of acres that produce vast quantities of barley and hay. The soil is deep, fertile and rich, and capable of producing anything grown in the temperate zone. Domestic water is excellent and abundant, and the East Whittier Land & Water Co. has expended $150,000 extending its system throughout the valley. Along the bottom lands there are springs, and near Coyote hills water is only two feet from the surface. The depth to the water varies at different places in the valley from a few feet to a hundred or more. There are numerous wells and pumping plants run by electric and gasoline engines. As the Edison Electric Co. has its line through this valley, power can be had at a very reasonable rate. Much building and improvements of various kinds are constantly going on in the valley and it is destined to become one of the most thickly populated sections of the state. The electric road will be completed through the valley by Christmas, which will mean the doubling in value of every acre of land in that prosperous valley. It is believed there will be a good sized town in La Habra within five years. There is no better vegetable or fruit section in the state. Good land is very reasonable in price.

TOLD IN BRIEF

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Biddle and Dr. and Mrs. Clinton, of Fullerton, were guests at the home of H. E. Hatfield Wednesday.

W. Espholt is building a large addition to his barn.

Mrs. Stone, of San Diego, has been visiting at the home of her son, E. H. Stone.

The Farmers' club held a very pleasant meeting Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Parker.

The annual La Habra picnic will be held Saturday on the school house grounds. All are invited to come.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Altrich went on the Balboa Route Friday.

E. W. Bishop went to the Irwin ranch Thursday to work on the threshing engine. They are now threshing beans.

ANAHEIM

George E. Boyd died at his home in this city last Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, after an illness of three weeks, of heart trouble. Mr. Boyd was a large stockholder and general manager of the Orange County Preserving Co., and a prominent man in business circles. He was about forty-five years of age. He leaves a wife and one child, a daughter nine years of age. The funeral services, held Sunday, were conducted by the Masonic order, of which he was an honored member.

Over 17,000 cans of tomatoes in one day is the record of the cannery during one day last week and required about seventeen tons of tomatoes to fill the cans. This was the biggest day's run of the season and filled a car. Eighty hands are employed at the cannery and several cars of canned peaches and pears are sent out weekly.

The thirteen acre walnut and orange ranch owned by L. A. Lothian was traded last week to D. Keller, for Pasadena property, on a valuation of $1,000.

The musical entertainment, Friday night, given by the Anaheim band boys, was an amusing and creditable affair, being largely attended. The proceeds, amounting to $200, will be used by the band boys in purchasing uniforms, etc.

John Engman is making preparations to build a $2,000 residence on his lot on west Ninth street.

Two carloads of the season's canned goods were sent out by the Preserving Co. last week.

Walnut growers outside the association are selling their walnuts at thirteen cents.

Harry Ray, of Fullerton, has charge of Stern Bros.' store during Herman Stern's vacation.

PLACENTIA

Mrs. Pilgrim's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Starbuck, also Mrs. and Miss Preston are here from Vermont to spend the winter with Mrs. Pilgrim.

The Misses Wilson and Crossman, of Santa Ana, spent Sunday with Miss Elsie Bradford.

The Round Table will meet with Mrs. F. N. Morse the first Wednesday afternoon in October.

Mrs. Shaller entertained at dinner on Sunday. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Downey, of Downey, also Miss Della Shaller and the Misses Slater of Los Angeles.

Miss May Strain is spending a week with friends in Pasadena.

Ray Peeler and wife, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Hugh Peeler.

Arthur Edwards spent Saturday and Sunday at Balboa.

G. C. Wilson, of Fullerton, will give an address at the school house Sunday evening. Good singing is promised.

WALNUTS

Without doubt the walnut ranch is from all points of view, the most desirable of anything to be found in this whole section.

I have lived in the walnut belt since 1888 and have known and watched the growth of all this section since the first walnut trees were put out. Am familiar with questions of water rights, soil, etc., peculiar to this country.

I have listed with me some of the best walnut property in the valley. Any one thinking of investing will do well to consult me before buying. I handle nothing but the very best.

LA HABRA

Electric Officials Buy Property in the Valley.

The semi-annual apportionment of the State school fund has just been completed. La Habra school district receiving $43.00.

The La Habra Valley Land and Water Company at a meeting held in Long Beach on Tuesday evening chose the following officers: President, S. Townsend; vice-president, J. F. Isbell; secretary, C. E. Robinson.

Mr. Mock, a workman on the Bangle ranch cut one foot very badly a few days ago, the member coming in contact with a gang plow. A number of stitches were required to close the wound, which was very painful.

La Habra is attracting more attention every day, new people are coming in, more money is being invested, houses are being repainted, the old peach and apricot trees are being grubbed out to make room for citrus fruits and walnuts, and with every week the smile on the face of the La Habra rancher grows broader. A good soil, fine climate and a progressive lot of ranchers were already there, and within the past few months plenty of water has been added. As if this was not enough, the prospect of having an electric road in the near future, has given another boost to this fertile section. La Habra is all right, and it is bound to grow rapidly. W. J. Hole, who has worked hard for this valley for a number of years, says that he has sold over 10,000 acres in La Habra during the last twelve months.

Last week, as if to emphasize his faith in the valley, he bought 240 acres at the gateway of this valley. The former owner was S. J. Murphy, and the land is just south of C. W. Leffingwell's Lemonita ranch. The soil is a deep alluvial loam, as level as a floor, and water will be piped out from the new ditch, by way of a 30-inch pipe line. The Huntington-Hellman electric railroad will cross one corner of the tract.

There is some prospect of a large Danish colony being established in the valley. Mr. Hole has lately received a letter written by Count Prebrian Ahlefeldt to the Danish Consulate at New York, asking information in regard to La Habra, and he is now in communication with those having the matter in charge.

Among those who have lately invested in La Habra are E. J. Randolph and George E. Pillsbury, the General Manager and Chief Engineer, respectively, of the Huntington-Hellman Electric Company, each of whom has purchased twenty acres. G. B. Deheltree of the Southern Pacific is another investor, his tract containing thirty acres. These three tracts will be set to walnuts and oranges, and their owners contemplate putting up handsome homes very soon, as will also Mr. Hole.

Maria E. Whallon

The following is from the Elmer Wisconsin. Leader and will interest the friends of Miss Whallon, whose untimely death was regretted by all who had met her.

Last Tuesday afternoon the community was saddened by the news that Miss Maria Whallon had died in California. Miss Whallon was taken with symptoms of consumption several years ago while living in New Jersey. Then she came with her mother to Elmer to be near Mrs. Whallon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Denton. Last November after consulting the physicians in regard to Miss Whallon's health, "Mrs. Whallon, who was anxious to make every sacrifice for the welfare of her daughter, decided to take her to California, where it was thought that even if her health should not be restored, her life might at least be prolonged. Since going to California Mrs. Whallon and Maria have spent most of the time in Los Angeles and Whittier, but just recently their physician advised that Miss Whallon's health required a higher altitude. In obedience to this advice they started on their way to a mining district some hundred miles east by way of stage. On the evening of March 10th they came to a little dwelling by a pine grove and stopped there for the night. It was not until this evening under the palm that Miss Whallon's heart failed and the light of her life, already dim, faded and never again shone again under fairer skies. Miss Maria E. Whallon was born in Chautauque county, New York seventy years ago last September. The family moved to New York city in 1840 and later to Elmer, N. J. Maria's three sisters—Frances, Helen and Veronika—now all living, are still making their home in Elmer. The warmest sympathy of their friends is extended to Mrs. Whallon and the grief at this time.

Protection of Our Game.

The national government is now in session for the protection of wild game in various localities in Southern California and among the Pacific Coast. It is a new movement and should be of interest not only to sportsmen, but to the public at large.

Alden Hampton, of the United States Biological Survey, which is conducted through the Department of Agriculture, is now ready to work from Southern California northward, selecting locations for the national game preserve.

"The purpose of these reserves," said he, "will be to afford zones of absolute safety from the hunt for native big game, where wild animals, now fast being exterminated, may live and propagate. Animals soon learn in what locality they are undisturbed, and will gather by the reserves in goodly numbers. Before long the natural increase will overcome these limits and afford good hunting, while the nucleus of game is still preserved."

"The venture will not entail much expense at first, as the reserves will be under the supervision of the forest rangers already employed. I am just about to begin in this part of the State an inspection of forest reserves for this purpose, and after I have prepared my report to the department I will be better able to state just where and how the work will be carried on. There seem to be fine advantages for a large game preserve in Southern California, as there are suitable tracts and much game. Further north the recruiting off the elk herds, now almost disappeared, will be one of the special aims of the department."

Last Tuesday afternoon the community was saddened by the news that Miss Maria Whallon had died in California. Miss Whallon was taken with symptoms of consumption several years ago while living in New Jersey. Then she came with her mother to Elroy to be near Mrs. Whallon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Denton. Last November after consulting the physicians in regard to Miss Whallon's health, Mrs. Whallon, who was anxious to make every sacrifice for the welfare of her daughter, decided to take her to California, where it was thought that even if her health should not be restored, her life might at least be prolonged. Since going to California Mrs. Whallon and Maria have spent most of the time in Los Angeles and Whittier, but just recently their physician advised that Miss Whallon's health required a higher altitude. In obedience to this advice they started on their way to a mountain district some hundred miles east by way of St. Louis. On the evening of March 10th they came to a little town and a pain gripped and stopped there for the night. It was not until the evening under the name that Miss Whallon's heart failed and she died. Her life already given to her father and mother, Miss Maria E. Whallon was born in Chautauque county, New York seventy years ago last September. The family lived in New York city for some time, and after Mr. Whallon died they all came west. Maria's three sisters—Frances, Ellen and Veronice, whom we all know, are still making their home in Elroy. The warmest sympathy of their friends is extended to Mrs. Whallon and the grief of this time.

Protection of Our Game.

The national government is now to assume the protection of wild game in certain sections in Southern California and along the Pacific Coast. It is a task most and should be of interest not only to sportsmen, but to the public at large.

Agent Sampson, of the United States Department of Survey, which is conducted through the Department of Agriculture, is now ready to work from Southern California northward, selecting locations for the national game preserves.

"The purpose of these preserves," said he, "will be to afford places of absolute safety from the hunt for native big game, where wild mammals, now fast being exterminated, may live and propagate. Animals soon learn in what localities they are undisturbed, and will gather in the preserves in great numbers. By treating the national reserves will preserve these limits and extend the hunting, while the national game is preserved."

"The reserves will not entail much expense at first, as the reserves will be under the supervision of the forest ranger already employed. I am just about to begin this part of the work at the end of the reserves for this purpose, and after I have prepared my report to the department I will be going out to select reserves, and how the work will be carried on. There seems to be fine advantages for a large game preserve in Southern California, as there are suitable tracts of land, much game. Further north the hunting of the elk, which has almost disappeared, and beaver, the spawning of the salmon, and the like."

Zomotherapy

WHAT IS IT?

A Treatment of Disease Without Medicine.

After years of careful study and investigation we have proved that the power in manipulation will remove disease that cannot be reached by other agents. All forms of chronic disease and the disheartening nervous troubles in either sex which have tried the patience and baffled the skill of both sufferer and physician, can be successfully treated by the application of this natural agent to the sluggish forces of nature.

I promise nothing that I cannot do. Diagnosis free. Cause of ailment found independent of questions asked and answered by patient.

I am not a novice in the treatment of disease without medicine.

Business throughout the country is generally ahead of last year in volume. February bank clearings are largest on record and gross railway earnings are enormous. Foreign trade continues very heavy. Prices for commodities did not alter materially during the month.

In our immediate district present business conditions are most favorable. The coming of the rain has relieved the anxiety of the agriculturist and proved a boon to stockmen. Grain which had been of slow growth on account of unusually cold, dry weather of January and February was beginning to turn yellow and pasturage was short. Now with just average strong rains and sunshine the large crops predicted earlier in the season for Southern California will be secured.

Work in bean and beet field is progressing with renewed confidence. The strike of the beet thinning crews delayed work somewhat at Oxnard, where acreage is larger than ever before.

It is now conceded that the orange crop suffered little injury from frost this season, but that lemons were considerably damaged. Delicious fruit trees and vines were benefited by cold and are reported in excellent conditions, just bursting into bloom in many localities.

Celery shipments for season have ended. About 950 carloads went forward from the peatlands, quality and prices good.

Orange shipping is now brisk, 125 to 150 carloads daily. Records show that to date about 1,000 carloads less have been shipped this season than last. Cold weather and cheap price for apples have affected to some extent eastern orange market.

It is estimated by Lima bean crop still remains in this section un sold. However, the spring trade demand, it is thought, will easily absorb this without lowering present price quotations, leaving market well cleaned up for new crop.

Cured fruit market is quiet. Quotations nominal in absence of wholesale transactions. The directors of California Raisin Grower's Association are formulating a plan of reorganization for term of five years which will soon be submitted to growers.

The California Honey Producer's Association, which formed in December along the lines of Southern California Fruit Exchange has now 13,000 colonies pledged and promises to be a factor in the bee-keeping interests of the coming year.

Locally trade conditions were never better. Travel to the city has been unusually brisk.

Building continues active, a steady growth meeting demand. Work on projected suburban lines shows no cessation and one by one they are reaching completion. Total resources of all National banks in Los Angeles have increased 35 per cent the past three months.

Failures for month, four. Liabilities $8,700; assets, $5,300. This does not include failure of house with headquarters in San Francisco. Failures for same month last year, four. Liabilities, $11,000; assets, $10,000.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not near as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Kendrick & Stafford, druggists.

The Southern Pacific sells 25 ride tickets between Whittier and Los Angeles for $4.25, 17 cents per trip. They also sell monthly school tickets good for 60 rides for one individual at $5.00.

Local Incidents Caught by the News Reporters.

Personal Paragraphs about People in this Prosperous Section.

A pleasant feature of the L. O. G. T. meeting Saturday night was the presence of Rev. C. J. Hall and wife, of Merrill lodge, Los Angeles. Mrs. Hall sang twice very sweetly and effectively. Her selections had the true Prohibition ring to them and were enthusiastically received. Mr. Hall gave a talk, full of sound sense and abounding in humor. He held the attention of the members throughout, and all were sorry when he sat down. The regular program was served up by the young ladies and represented their final effort to escape paying for the supper next time. A cute little farce entitled "Misunderstandings" was enacted by Carrie and Lelia Bugg in the "twin sisters" best style, and scored a whole lot of points, doubtless, but not enough. Sarah Brown and Georgia Burke both recited and did it well. Carrie Bugg read a spicy edition of the "Roaster," and Blamie Burke sang one of her best songs. It was a good program, all right, but they were too far in the rear to have any hopes of catching up, so the boys will eat at the girls' expense. The young ladies, well acquainted as they are with the gastronomic abilities of their opponents, see bankruptcy staring them in the face, and are naturally appalled at the situation.

Miss Sarah Brown returned Saturday from a visit of several days at Pasadena.

Miss T. L. Gooch returned Monday from Covina where she has been visiting her daughters, Emma and Jennie. Jennie expects to graduate from the High school this term, and is already planning for a course at Berkeley.

Reva C. J. Hall and W. D. White attended Ministers' Meeting at Compton Monday. Mr. Hall was one of the speakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Paglia are elated over the recent arrival from Hannibal, Missouri, of their foster daughter, Miss Mary Taylor. Miss Taylor will probably remain here permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Guthrie have a fine boy at their house, born May 4. Mother and child are doing well.

Your typo must have had "wheels in his head" when he set my items up last week. I would like to call his attention again to the fact that Mr.

Tom McLane (not McClaine, by the way) is shipping a carload of oranges daily from this depot (not "wagons.") Another ship was giving the subject of Rev. Hall's Sunday afternoon address as "How to manage a man," instead of "measure a man." This might not be considered a very serious blunder, but Mr. Hall wished to reach the men especially, and instead of men, the hall was crowded with women, all anxious to find out "how to manage a man," while the men missed a fine lecture, full of things they ought to have heard.

Teams will meet the 8:55 P. train at Downey and an ample lunch will be served at noon. Six months time given with approved notes. Some fine stock will be sold. Don't miss it.

Randolph Heppings.
The grain crop in this section is exceptionally heavy. The whole country is looking well and is on the boom.

C. E. Utt, the peanut king, has put in sixty acres in peanuts. Mr. Utt claims this to be an ideal spot for peanuts and says he will put in a big acreage next year.

John Isbell has planted ten acres to popcorn between the rows of young walnut trees. The latter have made a fine growth and look remarkably healthy.

Mr. Ford, of Fullerton, has put up a windmill and tank on his twenty-acre ranch and is putting up a cottage.

Road overseer Crawford has finished grading the main Pomona-Fullerton road and will soon oil the whole length. This road now runs through the townsite of Randolph. Local oil companies and the land company have donated a large part of the oil necessary for this purpose. He has extended the road to Whittier and put it in good shape. This road will be oiled and will make a short cut to Pomona.

J. F. Isbell sold the Mixer twenty-acre ranch, known as the Dyer place, this week to G. W. Brown, of Nebraska, for $4,500. Mr. Isbell also sold thirty acres for the land company to C. E. Utt.

There is a report of Mom in the Whittier hills, at the grounds that are used for public purposes, and the public is warned against carrying children there. It is said that an old she lion, with four cubs, are occupying those grounds now, and if the report is true, there is danger for the little folks and they should not be carried there.—[Downey Dispatch.]

The Southern Pac. has put on a train which will be known as the "Inside Track Flyer" bet. Los Angeles, Riverside and Redlands. This train will leave Los Angeles at 3:45 a. m. This extra will go via Puente and return via the Covina branch.

Taylor Brothers are to have an auction sale of 39 horses and cows at their place between Rivera and Downey next Tuesday, May 12, at 10 a. m. Teams will meet the 8:35 P. M. train at Downey and an ample lunch will be served aboard. Six month time given with approved note. Some fine stock will be sold. Don't miss it.

Randolph Happenings.
The grain crop in this section is exceptionally heavy. The whole country is looking well and is on the boom.

C. E. Utt, the peanut king, has put in sixty acres in peanuts. Mr. Utt claims this to be an ideal spot for peanuts and says he will put in a big acreage next year.

John Isbell has planted ten acres to popcorn between the rows of young walnut trees. The latter have made a fine growth and look remarkably healthy.

Mr. Ford, of Fullerton, has put up a windmill and tank on his twenty-acre ranch and is putting up a cottage.

Road overseer Crawford has finished grading the main Pomona-Fullerton road and will soon oil the whole length. This road now runs through the townsite of Randolph. Local oil companies and the land company have donated a large part of the oil necessary for this purpose. He has extended the road to Whittier and put it in good shape. This road will be oiled and will make a short cut to Pomona.

J. F. Isbell sold the Mixer twenty-acre ranch, known as the Dyer place, this week to G. W. Brown, of Nebraska, for $4,500. Mr. Isbell also sold thirty acres for the land company to C. E. Utt.

There is a report of Horn in the Whittier hills, at the grounds that are used for public purposes, and the public is warned against carrying children there. It is said that an old she lion, with four cubs, are occupying those grounds now, and if the report is true, there is danger for the little folks and they should not be carried there.—[Downey Dispatch.]

The Southern Pacific has put on a train which will be known as the "Inside Track Flyer" bet. Los Angeles, Riverside, and Redlands. This train will leave Los Angeles at 3:45 a. m. This extra will go via Puente and return via the Covina branch.

Made Young Again.
"One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my teens again," writes D. H. Turner of Davenport, Pa. They're the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Pretty regular. Never grip. Only 25c at Kendrick & Stafford's Drug Store.

GENERAL NEWS FROM TOWNS IN ORANGE COUNTY

ADD SANITARY DISTRICT AREA

BUENA PARK, Mar. 8.—Increasing the area of the Buena Park Sanitary district here to an area one and a quarter by one and a half miles in extent, voters yesterday took decisive action to keep step with the rapid growth of this community.
In the old sanitary district
the vote for increasing the area was 83 for and 7 against. In the district proposed to be an-nexed the vote was 23 for and 5 against.

Since organization of the district two years ago numerous new houses had been built outside the boundaries of the former district. Yesterday's election brings in these houses and gives them needed facilities.
The district's trustees were re-elected: J. F. Simpson, Oscar West and Herbert Blisby.

Brea-Olinda Vote Due on March 25

BREA, Mar. 8.—Elections of the Brea-Olinda high school district and those of the Brea grammar school district have been notified of an election to be held March 25, for the purpose of electing two trustees at large for the high school board for a term of three years and one trustee for the grammar school board for a similar term. Brea elections will be held at the Laurel grammar school building and Olinda people will vote at the public school building in that place. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. at Brea and from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. at Olinda.

Brea Baptists Start Church Movement

BREA, Mar. 8.—Several members of the Baptist church monitored to Whittier Friday where they observed an all-day prayer session with the sister church of that city.

On Thursday evening the happy congregation observed the third anniversary of the founding of their church in Brea. A

MARSHAL HURT IN ENCOUNTER WITH ROUGHS

La Habra Officer Severely Cut by Five Resisting Jail

LA HABRA, Mar. 8.—City Marshal George Wilcox was suffering severe injuries today, following an encounter with five assorted drunken rioters on an oil lease south of here Sunday night.

Marshal Wilcox, who happened to be unarmed, sought to compel the five to accompany him to jail. Reaching into the enclosed car, he grasped one by the collar, when one of the other men drew a knife and almost severed two fingers of Wilcox left hand.

He aimed a blow at the man with the knife, but the man dodged and the marshal's foot came in contact with the frame of the car, and Wilcox' right ring finger was broken.

At the same instant, the row-dies started the car. Wilcox was pitched out. He sustained a severe cut on his left arm from the wrist to the elbow, when his arm raked along the edge of a broken window in the car.
The roughs escaped. Wilcox was unable to obtain the license number of the car.

It was the first time that anyone whom Wilcox sought to at-rest had escaped him.

Ted Craig Appointed to County Fair Board

BREA, Mar. 8.—Jay Hunt, formerly secretary of the Brea Chamber of Commerce, but now manager of the Orange County Fair association, was a visitor here last week and announced that Ted Craig, one of Brea's most public-spirited citizens, has recently been added to the board of directors of the county fair association. Craig is to be the authorized representative of the American Legion posts of the county, and Legion affairs are thus sure to be given prominence at the fair this fall.

Announce Plans For Circle Card Party

BREA, Mar. 8.—Members of the Ami Tai and Rainbow Circles of the Eastern Star here announced a joint card party to be given on the afternoon of April 1 in the Masonic temple at Fullerton. With five hundred

ceeds will be placed in a fund for purchasing new linens for the temple.

At the card party given Friday afternoon by the Ami Tai Circle, following a pot-luck luncheon, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mona Tanner, Miss Tillie McMahon and Mrs. Alta Burton. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. A. G. Granger, of Fullerton, and Mrs. Beatrice Ly-ngston, of Brea.

BIG CROWD AT MASONIC MEET

BREA, Mar. 8.—An event of interest in Brea social circles was the dinner and program given by the Masonic Club in Bendell hall, Friday evening which was attended by more than four hundred Masons members of their families and invited friends. Covers were laid at long tables which were artistically decorated with wild purple hyacinths and yellow anemone blooms.

Following the dinner a splendid program was given in the ledge room after which jewels were presented to the newly elected officers of the Masonic Lodge of Brea. The name chosen by the members for the lodge is Citrus, a clever combination of the words representing the two most important pursuits of this community.

Those contributing to the program were Mrs. Clara Lioche, of Fullerton, and Mrs. Lina Run-sell, of Brea; readings: piano solos, Mrs. Leta Montell, sung by Miss Vera Gaston; pianologue, Miss Loretta Stein; unique saw feature, Mr. Needler, Santa Ana, address by the Rev. W.
Johnson, chaplain of the lodge;
responses by L. E. Leimmon, worshipful master, Mac-Masters and Past master Rodgers, both of Fullerton, the latter presenting the jewels.

New officers of the lodge were named as follows: Lester E.
Lemmon, master; George W. Cullen, senior warden; Charles E.
Miller, junior warden; A. H.
Brown, treasurer; Charles C.
Kinsler, secretary; Hugh H.
Williams, senior deacon; Lynn

Surprise Shower

For Mrs. Corcoran
Returning from Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. R. E. Corcoran was happily surprised to find gathered at her home on Golden Hill, her daughters, daughters-in-law and one old friend. The group had arranged the gathering so that they might shower her with gifts for her beautiful new residence into which the family moved about a month ago.

At the impromptu party were: Mrs. Schweinfest, Anaheim; Mrs. W. J. Cadman, Mrs. Milton Corcoran, Mrs. Ted Corcoran, Mrs. Emmett Corcoran, and Misses Lillian, Alice and Phyllis Corcoran.

Mrs. Drips Hostess

To P. E. O. Chapter
Members of chapter T. P. E. O. sisterhood were very happy to have with them at their meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Tom Drips at Placentia; Mrs. Bob Strala who has been unable to attend for sometime, and Mrs. Geo. Amerige who has just returned from an eastern trip.

The usual one o'clock luncheon was served, with Mrs. Sam Whelan, sister of Mrs. Drips, sharing the hostess duties. Appointments were appropriate to the Halloween season.

During the study hour Mrs. Clara West reviewed "The Travel Diary" (Kersterling) and Mrs. W. J. Bessie "The Little World" (Stella Benson).

Brea Club Meets Monday Night

Welcoming teachers in Brea schools to their community, members of the Brea Woman's club will give an informal reception at the kindergarten building, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. One feature of the evening will be the presentation to the club of a silk flag, by the Fullerton Woman's Relief Corps. The corps had originally planned to make the presentation in the afternoon, but the meeting time was changed in order that the teachers might be present.

Brea Lodges Plan Fraternal Center

BREA, Oct. 23.—Another meeting of the Masonic club of Brea will be held Monday night, in the parlors of the congregational church. Committees from the different fraternal orders in Brea, who were present at the last meeting of the club, have been asked to report from their lodges at this time.

At the previous meeting, presided over by Chairman L. L. Lemmon, a motion was carried to adopt plans outlined for the remodeling of Sewell Hall, the Masons to assume the expense of this work as well as the furnishing of the hall for a fraternal center. Other lodges represented may rent from them.

A finance committee, consisting of L. L. Lemmon, chairman; Ray Stein, L. A. Hogue, George Cullen, Charles Miller and S. L. Verges, was appointed to complete details of the matter and hasten the work. It is said the hall can be made ready for use by December first.

Plans as submitted by A. A. Van Tuyle provide for a lodge room, banquet and ball room, reception rooms, modern kitchen, dressing rooms, anterooms, property rooms and the present stage.

Buena Park

BUENA PARK, Oct. 23.—Sunday guests at the George McNeil home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young of Santa Ana, also Mrs. Young's mother, Mrs. Blood, who had spent the week previous with Mrs. McNeil. Mr. and Mrs. Young were college mates of Miss Ethel McNeil when they were attending Pomona college.

Those from here to attend the entertainment and dance given by the Fullerton Fire Department were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robeson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W.

Surprise Child on Fourth Birthday

BREA, Oct. 23.—Honoring the fourth birthday anniversary of Esther Mathews, tiny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mathews, of the local post office, seventeen little friends called at her home bringing many pretty gifts and staying to play games. The affair was a surprise for the honoree.

Adults who enjoyed the party were: Mrs. J. V. Russell and Mrs. R. C. Payan, of Anaheim; Mrs. J. A. Nicklett, of Fullerton, and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Payan, of Olive, grandparents of Esther.

Hallowe'en Motif at Pleasant Affair

BUENA PARK, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Ralph Cummins pleasantly entertained in honor of Mr. Cummins' parents before they left for their home in Fairview, W. Va. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cummins of Montebello, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ferrett of Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McNough and children of Long Beach and Miss Helen Fisher of San Francisco. Decorations and menu were suggestive of Hallowe'en.

Hallowe'en Frolic for Brea Teachers

BREA, Oct. 23.—Monday evening the Brea Woman's club is to honor teachers of the local schools. Entertainment will feature a Hallowe'en frolic and arrangements have been made to hold it in the kindergarten building on the Laurel school grounds.

This is the first of a series of affairs being planned by Brea people for the entertainment of the teachers.

Placentia

Two Ordinances are Before Board

BREA, Oct. 23.—The Brea city council today had under consideration two proposed ordinances, one regarding distribution of advertising matter by concerns outside the city, and the other providing for boulevard stops and other traffic regulations.

The first call for a license for each separate piece of advertising matter and regulates the manner of distributing same, so as to prevent an unsightly accumulation of papers in yards and streets. The ordinance is so drawn as to prohibit distribution of newspapers and periodicals to any but bonafide subscribers, unless a license is obtained.

Although the proposed measures have been laid on the table by the council since its last meeting, it is generally conceded that they will be made effective within the next month.

Parent-Teacher Folk Hold Meet

BUENA PARK, Nov. 11.—The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association was held at the school hall here Tuesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Stephens, called the meeting to order and after the routine business, Mrs. Costar, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. Thompson of Anaheim, who talked on "The Parent, School and Home". Mrs. Thompson, who was formerly district chairman of child welfare and legislation, is a very interesting speaker.

At last month's meeting it was voted to change the time of meeting from afternoon to evening, this being a wise change as last evening proved, as many of the fathers were present at the evening meeting.

Mrs. Frank Jones invited all present to the Domestic Science room where she served coffee and cake.

New Store Building, Apartments Planned

BREA, Nov. 11.—The northeast corner of Birch and Orange streets is soon to be improved. Five apartment court to be erected by Mrs. W. D. Casner, it was reported today. Each apartment is to be 21 x 30 feet and will consist of living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen and screen porch and separate garage. That part of the store facing on Birch street is to be occupied by a beauty parlor. The buildings are to be erected of hollow interlocking tile, the product of the California Cement Product company, a recently organized Brea manufacturing concern.

Masons Decide On Sewell Hall

BREA, Nov. 11.—Members of the Masonic club of Brea at a meeting held in the Brown building the first of the week, decided definitely upon Sewell hall as a fraternal center for Brea lodges for the next three years. The matter has been in controversy for some weeks and all concerned are glad to see it settled.

Work on remodeling the hall, under the direction of A. A. Van Tuyle, has begun and it is expected that the lodge room will be ready for use by December 1. Other less important rooms will be ready soon thereafter.

Many local Masons have been holding demits from other lodges, waiting anxiously for the matter to be settled, so that the work of organization could go forward. It is said there are also many prospective members who were equally as anxious to see the work of organization begin.

HORSES MORE DANGEROUS THAN AUTOMOBILES ARE

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Nov. 10.—Statistics gathered at a local hospital show that horses are still more dangerous to life and limb here than the automobile is.

Thirteen serious accidents and two deaths resulting from injuries received from horses and mules were reported at the Grim-Smith hospital here as against eleven serious accident cases and one death resulting from automobile accidents. The hospital reports that the proportion of automobiles and horses here is about the same as anywhere else in the state.

GIRL'S BOBBED HAIR IS CAUSE OF DEATH

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—Because the neighbors teased her on the day she bobbed her hair, fifteen year old Marie Kris of this city committed suicide by jumping from the third-story flat of her parents.

With the permission of her parents Marie had her hair bobbed. When she returned home her parents were away. A neighbor saw her and began to tease her for having "baby hair." Other neighbors joined in, telling her that she was a fool. Marie was so upset that she rushed upstairs, opened the window and jumped out. She was killed instantly on the pavement below.

WHERE IS

RANDOLPH?

Situated in the centre of a 220-acre tract of as fine soil as ever lay out of doors, with plenty of pure water delivered on the land in cement pipes.

Fine Walnut, Orange and Lemon Land

The Pacific Electric Railway has a line surveyed through this tract. Just where this railway crosses the mesa is situated the townsite of Randolph, beautiful for situation and affording excellent business opportunities. Thus the colonists are assured the enjoyment of school, church, telephone, postoffice with rural free delivery, electric light, and swift and cheap transit.

This property is situated in the beautiful and fertile La Habra valley in Orange county, 24 miles from Los Angeles, 5 miles from Fullerton, 15 miles from Santa Ana, the county seat of Orange county, and Pomona is 15 miles to the north. The drive from Whittier is 10 miles along the valley through groves of orange and walnut, by which their owners are maintained in comfort. Thus all around are communities whose prosperity is making them famous. Here in their midst is a region whose opportunities are equal to the best that has remained undeveloped for want of the two essentials of California life—water and transit. The first of these is already provided for, and the other is at hand.

Land With Water, $150 per acre

Here is one of the few remaining opportunities to acquire choice orange or walnut lands at the price of unimproved lands. There is no other so near Los Angeles; there is no other anywhere so easy of access.

THE ORANGE MARKET.

A fair demand has existed for all varieties of oranges during the past week, but owing to considerable decay being shown in arrivals in the east, the eastern market have declined from 10 to 15 cents a box.

The demand is chiefly for navel, yet, as the fruit is estimated to be 3000, as loads left yet, shippers are naturally turning their attention to moving the variety. The fruit is soft in some orchards, and should be moved. At the present prices, however, it is believed that balance of the crop can be marketed. Smaller-sized navels are in demand, but they are difficult to obtain, says the Fruit World.

There has been more inquiry for seedlings the past week than at any time before. There is estimated to be about the same quantity of seedlings left in the state as there were at this time last year. The crop as a whole will be considerable less, but the low prices of navel kept seedlings practically out of the market up to the last two weeks, except to supply the demand for small sizes.

Sweeties are meeting with some inquiry, but there is a comparatively small quantity to market, as a large number of trees have been loaded over.

The greatest difficulty in the situation is the decay which many ears are showing. There is, however, confidence in the situation, and some of the out- shipping firms are buying fruit from the growers.

The California Fruit agency advanced prices on extra fancy navel 10 cents per box, as the demand for this grade was out of proportion to the other grades.

Extra fancy navel are quoted at $1.80; fancy navel, $1.65; extra choice navel, $1.50; and choice navel, $1.35.

Fancy sweeties are quoted at $1.40; extra choice, $1.35; choice, $1.25.

Tulfree-Randolph Round-Up

The most stirring feature Sunday of the strike of Mexicans employed by the Huntington railway in laying the third rail in Main street was a sensational scene between Manager F. W. Randolph, of the Pacific Electric company, and Col. J. K. Tulfree of Fullerton, a former secret service man in the Confederate army, says the Los Angeles Herald.

"Today's affair had its inception in a little incident that happened in front of the hotel one day last week," said the colonel. "I was watching the Mexicans at work when my attention was attracted to a good-looking young woman who was endeavoring to get across the street. There was a lot of dirt piled up over the crosswalk, and it would have taken a professional tight-rope walker to cross the street at that point without falling. Well, the young lady got as far as the excavation, when her foot slipped under a loose rail, and had I not sprung to her rescue, she would have fallen and in all probability broken her leg."

After she had gone I talked with the foreman and asked him why he didn't provide a proper passage for pedestrians to cross. He told me to mind my business and he would mind his.

"That night I sent my card up to Mr. Randolph, and when he came down I explained the matter to him. That evening to all right," said Randolph, "that woman just made believe she was falling so she could fall into my arms."

Now, I can appreciate a good joke as well as anybody, but I didn't consider that remark of Randolph's a bit funny, and I told him so. Randolph then said something about his being none of my affair anyhow, and he wished I would drop the subject.

"Yesterday noon I saw Mr. Huntington talking in the hotel lobby, and I approached him for the purpose of calling his attention to the condition of the crossing, which was still in very bad shape. After a little formal talk, I told him that I had a matter that I wished to speak to him about that was to his interest to know. He suggested that we take a walk, and as we were going out the Main-street entrance to the hotel, we met Randolph. He glared at me fiercely, but he didn't scare me a bit. I turned to Huntington and said, pointing to Randolph:

"There's a man I used to think was all right, but I don't any more."

"What's the trouble?" asked Huntington, but before I had time to answer, Randolph made a lunge at me, at the same time threatening to do me bodily harm. He was fairly boiling with rage. He tore up watch chain from his waist and the hat was lost. Then he drew back and picked up a rock, which he held in his clenched fist and came at me again. Every time he struck at me I dodged. Finally, two or three policemen came up and advised Randolph to calm himself."

Tulfree then roared the matter and city council for allowing things to go on as he claimed they have been going on for the past week or two.

According to Randolph, Tulfree has been bothering both Mr. Huntington and himself for several days, and he has also been intimidating the Mexican employees, so the general manager of the Pacific Electric says.

Colonel Tulfree Monday shook the dust of the Van Nuys hotel corridors from his feet and took up his belongings at the Angeles. He boasted that he had enough of Huntington and all his crowd and in future will do business with the Salt Lake railway. As a result of his Sunday encounter with Randolph he is said to have given the Salt Lake company a right of way over his Fullerton ranch in order that it might be a competitor of the Pacific Electric line to Santa Ana.

Strain-Spencer Wedding

Robert Strain, foreman of the F. K. B. Fruit company, and a well-known woman, and Miss Ethel Spencer, a charming and popular young lady, were married in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. A. Spencer, in Orange, this yesterday afternoon in the presence of many guests. Rev. F. H. Sweet officiating. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served at 4 o'clock followed by a reception. Miss Margaret Strain, a cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Herbert Strain of Los Angeles, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Spencer's wedding gown was Parisian in design, trimmed with satin ribbon and tulle, having sleeves of sheer tulle and the skirt was decorated. Mr. Strain wore a tuxedo in black. The bridal party stood under a white canopy and were accompanied by the bridesmaids and groomsmen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Sweet, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, which is a well-known place of worship. Mrs. M. A. Spencer, the bride's mother, was the hostess. The wedding was a very quiet affair, and the guests were very few. The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and a few friends. The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Board of Trade

At meeting of Board of Trade Tuesday night a letter was read from Secretary Wiggins of Los Angeles chamber of commerce, urging Fullerton to take steps to be represented in the exhibit at the St. Louis fair. This brought up the question of Fullerton maintaining an exhibit at the Orange county head quarters in the Los Angeles chamber, and a committee consisting of John Lindner, W. A. Borchsenius and E. Johnson, was appointed to get up an exhibit for Los Angeles and to be on the lookout for suitable exhibits for the St. Louis fair. On motion the appropriation of $2,000 for cleaning the streets was increased from $1,000 to $2,000 and the business men were urged to keep the sidewalks and sides of the streets clean in front of their places of business. Chas. Forthick was appointed to have the pepper trees near the electric lights trimmed so the night would be in darkness. Secretary and president were appointed to take up matter of proposed limits and track yard with the out- standing questions of establishing these new enterprises. J. A. Potter and Al- bertus Marks were elected to membership. The electric road situation was discussed without action, after which the board adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

Mrs. Pendleton Discharged

Thursday's Los Angeles Times contained the following account of the charge against Mrs. Edna Pendleton, who, with her husband, resided in Fullerton some months ago, and who eventually left the town suddenly leaving behind them numerous creditors.

"Attorneys in the felony case against Mrs. Edna Pendleton, wife of Charles Pendleton, a brother of Senator 'Doc' Pennington, appeared in the police court yesterday and asked that the charge against her, of having secured money by false pretenses, be dismissed, and it was ordered done."

"The charge against Mrs. Pendleton was that she purchased a plan for the installment plan and then sold it to a man named Watson, but the man from whom Mrs. Pendleton had purchased system that assesses corporations for their purposes. McDade's argument was largely confined to statements concerning what he declares is an inadequate assessment of the O'Neill property in San Diego county. He does not attack the assessment in this county. In justice to O'Neill it should be stated that McDade is a brother-in-law with whom O'Neill and his mother are at odds. In fact, O'Neill has started suit in San Francisco against McDade for an accounting of Mrs. O'Neill's property, and the feeling between the two men is reported to be bitter. Friends of O'Neill in this county are not surprised at the Sacramento report, so far as McDade's animus—of he displayed any—is concerned.

McDade's statement speaks of the Santa Margarita ranch as lying in both San Diego and Orange counties. The Santa Margarita lies entirely in San Diego county and the O'Neill holdings in this county are known as the Trabuco and Mission Viejo ranches.

McDade's statement was shown to County Assessor James Sleeper of Orange county.

"McDade says that no hay or barley is assessed in San Diego county," said Sleeper. "I do not know much about the San Diego County assessment, so that is out of my jurisdiction, but I do know that we assessed O'Neill last year for all the grain we could get track of. Some of it was in the warehouse at El Toro and some at San Juan Capistrano. We got warehouse managers' statements as to the quantity."

"The O'Neill interests paid taxes on county $3,748.21 in taxes last year."

"About April 1 my office got a letter, signed Lenore Stewart, 116 West Broadway, San Diego, Cal. That letter started off with a statement saying that the writer was a writer for a newspaper and desired certain information concerning O'Neill's assessment in this county. My chief deputy, H. H. Skiles, gave all the information requested, briefly."

"The letter to the San Diego woman was evidently turned over to McDade, for it was quoted in the Sacramento hearing. Evidently the assessment in this county was not especially vulnerable, else McDade would have attacked it also. The O'Neill property in this county comprises 6,000 to 8,000 acres. McDade is mistaken in his brief description of the extent of the O'Neill holdings. There is none of it on the coast between San Juan Capistrano and the San Diego county line and it extends as far north as El Toro. In this county the bulk of it is rough mountains, with good grazing grounds in the canyons."

POBBERS CAUGHT WITH GOODS

Early Tuesday Sheriff Jackson was called over the telephone and told that Richardson's store at Stanton had been broken into in the night and quantities of goods stolen. Within three hours the sheriff had five culprits in custody and a wagon load of plunder. This was some good work, and all concerned deserve a great deal of credit, not only the sheriff himself, but Deputy Sheriffs Maxwell and Martillo of Stanton.

The thieves had worn slacker shoes with diamond-pointed soles, and it was quite an easy task to track the men. Those who were taken into custody, and are now in jail, are: Alena Nera, Bernaire Nera, Alberto Rivera, Mariano Carlinio and Louis Mateo, also him to increase the size of the paper as well as the quality of job printing. Mr. Baxter will have his family with him, O'Neill a few days later. Mr. O'Neill, the contracting editor, is expected at position with a printing concern in Los Angeles, and with his wife, will remove to that city some time next week—Brea Progress.

BREA CONSIDERING INCORPORATION

Brea Progress. The incorporation meeting held in the Brea Photoplay Wednesday evening, was well attended and proved instructive to some who were not well posted on the subject. The feature of the meeting was a practical, straight to the point address by E. J. Marks, city attorney for the neighboring city of Fullerton. Mr. Marks reviewed the history of Fullerton as an incorporated town, in such a clear, concise way that it could not help but enlighten many of the audience.

Fullerton, was incorporated in 1904. Mr. Marks stated, and there were no gr. homes in Fullerton, then, than there are in Brea now. Also, the assessment valuation was less than one-fourth of what Brea would have if the land territory were incorporated. The tax rate the first year was set at 4 cents on the hundred-dollar valuation. The average residential property in Brea would be assessed at from $100 to $600, and would at that rate pay a tax of from $3 to $4 yearly, or about $1 more than the present county tax rate. These were the principal points of Mr. Marks' address, and at the close he was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Albert Lauer reviewed the explanation which he made at the previous incorporation meeting as to the logical boundaries. It will be remembered that two and one-half sections lying between the Fullerton city limits and the Orange county line were suggested as being the logical territory to include, as it would give them a greater assessed valuation than any town in the county, except Santa Ana and Fullerton, the latter embracing seven and one-half sections.

Much discussion then followed as to how the oil companies might view incorporation. Several suggested various things the oil companies might possibly do, which are not at all likely to occur. The idea seemed to be to encourage any who oppose incorporation to take an avowed stand on the question, but the sentiment was so strongly in favor of the proposition that no one attempted a real knock even though there may have been some feeling of opposition.

It was felt that another effort should be made to interview the heads of the oil companies regarding the matter, and this, placed as a motion, carried. The committee appointed at a previous meeting for this purpose was instructed to make another effort to get an expression of sentiment from these interested parties.

In the meantime it will be found that the enthusiasm for incorporation is growing in strength and volume. There is evidently a determination to not allow the matter to lag or drag until some decisive action is taken.

McLade's argument was largely confined to statements concerning what he declares is an inadequate assessment of O'Neill's property in San Diego county. He does not attack the assessment in this county. In justice to O'Neill, it should be stated that McLade is a brother-in-law with whom O'Neill and his mother are at odds. In fact, O'Neill has started suit in San Francisco against McLade.

for an accounting of Mrs. O'Neill's property, and the feeling between the two men is reported to be bitter. Friends of O'Neill in this county are not surprised at the Sacramento report, so far as McLade's animus—if he displayed any—is concerned.

McLade's statement speaks of the Santa Margarita ranch as lying in both San Diego and Orange counties. The Santa Margarita lies entirely in San Diego county and the O'Neill holdings in this county are known as the Trabuco and Mission Viejo ranches.

McLade's statement was shown to County Assessor James Shepper of Orange county.

"McLade says that no hay or barley is assessed in San Diego county," said Shepper. "I do not know much about the San Diego County assessment, as that is out of my jurisdiction, but I do know that we assessed O'Neill last year for all the grain we could get track of. That letter started off with a statement saying that the writer was a writer for a newspaper and desired certain information concerning O'Neill's assessment in this county. My chief deputy, R. H. "The letter to the San Diego woman was evidently turned over to McLade, for it was quoted in the Sacramento hearing. Evidently the assessment in this county was not especially vulnerable. McLade would have attacked it also. The O'Neill property in this county comprises 69,100 acres. McLade is mistaken in his brief description of the extent of the O'Neill holdings. Dick's Team Skinned Alive

Billie Dixon went to Whittier Sunday with his half-sister, the Mrs. A. G. Dixon, to "show the Whittierites how to play ball," said Dick, but he ran up against the realities and his ball tossers were fairly skinned alive, and some of the kids did not want to return to Fullerton, but the defeated team was soon led up and prevailed upon to come home, Dick saying to each player, and patting him on the back at the same time, "you must return home and face the music and stand by the glorious banner of past glory, the diamond." The boys arrived here on the evening train, most of them getting off on the north side of the railroad as they would not have to stand for the pushing as men at the request of the game was made public. Dick and Cuny felt so badly over the defeat that they jumped from the train about fifty yards west of the Harvett packing house, as the train slowed down, and took a sneak up a back street. They could not be located in town that evening or early the next morning. A Tribune man interviewed a nod looking member of the team and was informed that the whole trouble lay in the fact that the mascot, Frank Collins, failed to catch the noon train to Whittier, failing to get up in time; he followed the Fullerton facts would have walked away with the winners and had the mascot bear on the ground. Another ball tosser and the home boys were defeated—terrible. Concluding was along and let up such a yell on the diamond that the side was hushed from the start and our defeat staring them in the face at the beginning of the first inning. Report—Whittier, 10; Fullerton, 2. Cheers for Dick! call off the dogs.

he updated its voting members for putting their prayers up to heaven during the year and knocking them all down against with originality in election day. "Men don't vote to they pray," he said.

"There are nine millions of voters registered in the church of the land, and if they would all vote to do away with the liquor traffic, the saloons would be sent to hell and would there tell the old devil himself that the church had beat them."

In this connection he also stated that the politicians of the land will soon be brought to the point where they will ask, "What do the church people want?" So, "What do the saloon men want?" He asked the president of the United States for refusing to entertain a delegation of the W. C. T. U., and the next day accepting an invitation to dine with the brewers association. The W. C. T. U. was invited to the show, and Mr. Hall said it is the only organization in the land which the brewers have admitted they are afraid of, because, the brewers say, "They are overlastingly at it."

Bunk House Burned

The Union Oil company's Brea canyon logging house, 60 feet long and one of the nearest buildings on any oil lease in the canyon, was burned to the ground Friday night. A large number of employees of the company, who are rooming there, lost all their clothing except what they had on. One employee had the night before taken home a $100 suit, which he had not worn. It is assumed the loss will amount to $1000. The fire originated from an overturned lamp, which was used by a drunken employee, who returned from Fullerton and was preparing for bed. This man had been on the lease only a short time, and will no doubt be discharged. Nearly all the other men were in another building at supper when the fire started, and it had caused such headway when discovered that nothing could be saved from the building.

No Fourth Rural Route

C. M. de la Montanya, a special agent of the first rural mail delivery service, was here this week and investigated the proposed new route from Fullerton, and is of the opinion that there is not out decent uncultured territory here and for fourth route, though there may be room for it within a year. If the route should be established it would take considerable territory from routes one and two, cutting the salaries of each carrier on those routes $1000 a year.

these apparent and explicable facts of the measure.

"Don't delay! Don't wait if you contemplate refurnishing this spring, select new your furniture; you can have no better, more investment for your money at Mrs. A. Goodman's Mammoth Department store."

M. R. Tanner has ordered a carload of lumber from San Pedro for the erection of a seven-room cottage for H. Thomsen and a large engine house at the pumping plant west of Fullerton for the Columbia Commercial company.

Directors of hospital association have decided to increase the subscription to $5, adding the following names: Dr. J. A. Jackson, C. J. Gifford, A. H. Brown, W. L. Valentine, A. I. Kurns, A. W. Johnson, V. Keosert and Mrs. M. L. Gorman.

At the Methodist church Sunday the pastor, Henry Hensley, will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Senior Epworth league prayer meeting at 6:30 p. m. will be conducted by Miss Margaret Keady, topic, "Total abstinence the only safe rule."

A petition is being circulated for presentation to the board of supervisors, asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the exportation of claims from the county. The famous hole at the seaside resorts have been greatly depleted in late years by the wholesale shipments, and fear is entertained that the supply will be exhausted.

During the past few days the Tribune has placed on its subscription list 36 new subscribers, most all of whom are recent settlers in this portion of the county, showing that our section is growing rapidly. Advertisers will please remember the names can be seen by them at any time. Four recent arrivals here came into the office and subscribed Monday.

Supervisor Linsberger and Roadmaster Porter are now doing much good road work here and are complimented on all sides. A number of new roads are also to be opened at once, one from Fullerton, northeast corner to the Santa Fe oil wells, another from the mouth of Fire canyon to connect with the Whittier road through La Habra valley, and roads will also be opened in the vicinity of the new townsite of Randolph at the expense of the townsite company.

NEW TOWN OF RANDOLPH

The town of Randolph in the eastern portion of La Habra Valley will soon have the appearance of a settlement, if the plans of the company having the project in hand are carried out. The offices of the land company are located on the townsite, which has been cleared, leveled and staked off. Several acres of across property have been made, and the new owners are setting out trees. Walnuts are the favorite, but some of the settlers are talking of putting in orange groves. Lumber will soon be on the ground for the construction of a store and office for the company, and as soon as this structure is completed a schoolhouse will be erected.

GOOD CROPS CERTAIN.

The recent heavy rains have given sufficient moisture to insure good crops in every branch of agricultural industry in Orange county. Grain, which was sown just before the storm is now up while earlier plantings are making rapid growth, promising exceptional yields. Celery, sugar beets, and other vegetable crops raised extensively in the postlands are all in a flourishing condition, while deciduous fruits give promise of very profitable crops. The harvesting of the citrus fruits which was retarded somewhat by the rains of the past two weeks is now being carried on in earnest, and indications are for a yield above the average in quantity and quality.

New Fire Commissioner

Dick's Team Skinned Alive

Billy Dixon went to Whittier Sunday with his half-sister, the Sorens & Goodman team, to "shoot the Whittierites down to play ball," said Dick, but he ran up against the real thing and his half-sister were fairly skinned alive, and some of the kids did not want to return to Fullerton, but the defeated team was run led up and paraded upon to chase home, Dick paying to each tower, and patting him on the back at the same time, "you must return home and for the money and stand by the glorious banner of past glory on the diamond." The boys arrived here on the evening train, most of them getting off on the south side of the railroad as they would not have to stand for the shooting as soon as the result of the game was made public. Dick and Cuney felt so badly over the defeat that they jumped from the train about fifty yards west of the Maricopa packing house, as the train slowed down, and took a sneak up a back street. They could not be located in town that evening or early the next morning. A Tribune man interviewed a well looking member of the team and was informed that the whole trouble lay in the fact that the mascot, Frank Collins, failed to catch the noon train to Whittier, failing to get up in time, he followed the Fullerton kids would have walked away with the honors had the mascot been on the ground. "Sunshine" Nelson Meets a Violent Death in Los Angeles

"Sunshine" Nelson was instantly killed Friday while at work in the yard of the Edison Electric Co., Los Angeles. His name was John Nelson, but none of his acquaintances knew him by any other than "Sunshine," a name given to him three years ago, when he graduated from a drunkard into a sober and industrious man.

He only went to work for the Edison last week, and he was evidently a "little uneasy," for he said to fellow employees that if anything happened to him he wished to be buried from the Union Rescue mission. He was engaged with two other men in loading some beams of structural iron when they slipped from the car. The other two men managed to jump off time to save themselves, but Nelson was too late and one of the beams struck him squarely on top of the head, killing him instantly, though not before he uttered his last feeble cry.

Nelson was 26 years of age and leaves a widow whose living in Fullerton, a son and a daughter in Los Angeles, a daughter in San Francisco and a son in Arizona.

Mrs. Nelson, who resides in one of Edwards cottages near Sandy River, went to Los Angeles to attend the funeral.

ELECTRIC ROAD RUMORS

Two rumors concerning the Huntington electric railway are in circulation this week, each emanating from a source which enables them to be considered. One is to the effect that early in the new year work will begin upon a line from Whittier, southeasterly through La Habra to Pico, and from there to Orange, connecting at the latter point with the road to Santa Ana. Should this line be built, it may be asked, where will Anaheim, Fullerton and Buena Park be when the lights go out, says an Anaheim exchange.

Another rumor is that a survey will be run from Olive through Anaheim to Naples, the new beach resort which Huntington recently purchased near the old Anaheim landing. This line will continue up the river canyon through Tom Scully's ranch at Rincon and on to Riverside. It would make connection with the Watt's line at

Mr. Utt Has Harvested His Big Crop of Peanuts

C. E. Utt, the "peanut king" of Orange county, has harvested and is shipping his big crop of goobers for the present season. Mr. Utt is probably the largest grower of peanuts in California and controls the larger part of the output of Orange county.

The total acreage of the county this year is about 200 and of this Mr. Utt has more than 100 acres. Sixty acres are in La Habra valley and the remaining forty in and around Santa Ana and Tustin. Two varieties are grown, the large English peanut, of which the goober king has thirty acres, and the little Spanish variety, of which the remainder of his crop is composed.

The price of peanuts this year varies from 4 to 6 cents per pound according to the quality. Rains of recent weeks inflicted some damage that will make a portion of the crop of second quality.

From the total area of 200 acres devoted to growing peanuts in this county there will be produced this year about 200 tons. An average of forty 50-lb sacks are taken to the street for this season La Habra valley yield averaged up better than that of other fields.

Mr. Utt says that peanut culture is on the decrease in this county. This is necessarily the case, as the land that can be devoted to the industry is gradually taken up by fruit orchards. Peanut land in past years has often been secured by planting between the rows of young trees, but in the nature of things as the trees grow older this territory must be lost.

WALLOP ORANGE IN BALL GAME

Fullerton High School
Nine Wins 21 to 1
Flasco Friday

In a return tilt between the baseball teams of Fullerton and Orange high schools played here, yesterday the invading aggregation was definitely relegated to the also-ran class with a score of 21-1 in favor of the locals. The contest was originally scheduled as a nine inning event but was called at the seventh.

Home runs were again in evidence yesterday. Two circuit clouts were hit in the first inning together with two triples, a double and two singles. This together with two walks and three errors counted twelve runs for the initial canto. Messrs. Herachberger and Dauser were the two heavy handed attackers to lift the ball into home run pastures in the first.

Later in the contest, Bloomer, who held the mound for Fullerton yesterday got a home run. Contrary to all established precedents, Bloomer managed to hit with the heat on the squad and garnered a three base hit and reached first once on a walk.

There was little save the heavy hitting of the locals to give tone to the game. The Orange team's run came in the seventh when they collected two singles and a double.

LOSES FIGHT ON HIS DISBARMENT

R. Koeppe, disbarred attorney, lost his fight for the right to carry on a collection business through the local justice court, when Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday denied his petition for a writ of mandamus, to compel Justice K. E. Morrison to permit Koeppe's appearance before his court.

At yesterday's hearing, which attracted the presence of numerous attorneys of the county, the issue revolved itself into a question whether Koeppe, in prosecuting claims assigned to him for collection, was acting as agent for the assignor of the claim, or had a legal property right in the claim himself and was being deprived of his constitutional rights as a citizen.

Judge Williams ruled that Koeppe was acting as agent for the assignor, and interpreted the statute as barring him from such appearance, in view of his dis-

Experimental Flight Not Official Event

Deep regret for the fatal accident at the Brea Air Meet this morning in which Ray Freeman, popular Long Beach pilot was killed was expressed by aviation officials today.

It was explained that the monoplane, which collapsed in midair, was not of "standardized construction," and was still in the experimental stage. It was declared to be the smallest airplane in the world and in two previous trial flights, both of which were made by the pilot who was killed, appeared to be entirely successful in its construction and design.

However, the flight was not a scheduled event of the meet and not according with standardized safety policies of aviation as established for officially participating aviators, the officials declared.

With a series of interesting air events, mostly from a utilitarian point of view, stressing safety as of paramount importance, the Brea Air meet, under the auspices of the Anaheim Elks got under way before noon today.

This afternoon, pilots of the various types of planes were engaging in economy races, speed contests, and various other activities of the air. Stunt flying was not an important feature of the meet and only a few of the pilots entered this portion of the program, which was staged expressly for the thousands of spectators, who gathered for the event.

More than 100 airplanes were expected before the meet was over and early this morning more than 25 shops with pilots, mechanics and parachute performers had gathered at the field.

Despite the tragic death of Ray Freeman in the small monoplane, events of the meet were staged as scheduled.

Among the early arrivals at the field were Joe Harmon, La Jolla Beach; Eddie Martin, Manhattan, (four planes) A. Malone, Glendale; Jack Frye, Long Beach; Paul E. Richter, Los Angeles; W. Brea Built Monoplane In Third Flight Falls 700
Feet This Morning

Tragedy marred an otherwise successful air meet at Brea today when Pilot Ray Freeman, 24 years old, of Long Beach, fell to his death in the "Brea Humming Bird," locally constructed monoplane, at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Taking off from the field without difficulty, Freeman had circled the fields west of the airport and was returning from the southwest at an elevation of approximately 700 feet when both wings of the little ship collapsed suddenly.

The airplane, declared to be the smallest in the world, dropped like a plummet, with nothing to check its descent. The pilot was horribly crushed, but was breathing when removed from the wreckage, dying within a few minutes without regaining consciousness.

Thousands of persons witnessed the accident, which occurred as the plane was flying smoothly along, apparently without difficulty. Mounted policemen rushed to the scene of the crash and kept back crowds of horrorstricken spectators, who rushed to the fallen airship.

The body was taken to the J. E. Seale funeral chapel in Fullerton where an inquest will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

With the collapse of the little airplane, offer of Col. William Mitchell, who was to be a guest of the air meet, to fly the largest and smallest planes on the field was recalled.

Officials declared that Col. Mitchell was too large to have been able to fly the little ship, as he could not have squeezed into the cockpit. They also declared that the monoplane, not being a tested and standardized model, would have caused the Fighting Colonel to have refused to fly it. Freeman's flight was not a regularly scheduled part of the program, and was in a way a trial trip, being the third time the little monoplane had been in the air. It was constructed by William Tremaine of Brea and Albert Thaheld, an Austrian, who has had much experience in constructing airplanes and gliders.

Later in the contest Blossmer, with the best on the squad and earned a three base hit and reached first once on a walk.

There was little save the

"While in the air the plane was in the air line which broke down at Santa Ana and against Encinitas," he said. "I do not know the time of the flight as I was so busy thinking about the crash and fixing it that I did not keep track of my time."

"The plane was repaired yesterday and Covell took it up for a test flight. I came home to report to the today to San Francisco where I was to test the plane again. Upon hearing of the wreck I gave up my San Francisco trip and thought of coming back down to San Diego but did not go."

"I was saddened and shocked at the news of the disaster as the two lieutenants were very good friends of mine."

Girl Denies Nudity in 'King Ben' Case

SAN JOSE, Mich., Aug. 10.—Annabelle Wheeler Ackertund, who was charged with having appeared in the nude in "King Ben," Burnell's room on the night the boarded tender was arrested, took the stand today at the trial and vehemently denied the charge.

"I was awakened by the shouts of the troopers and hurriedly dressed," she said from the stand. "I had my clothing on when I went to Benjamin's room."

Rain troopers previously had testified the girl was in Burnell's room when they entered the house and that she wore no clothing. They said she returned to the leader's room to obtain a dress.

Fatal Jinx Dogs Steps of Designer and Builder of Monoplanes

In fortune, which more than a year ago brought tragedy in the first plane constructed by W. D. Tremaine, Brea, constable, and Fred Thaheld, Austrian aircraft designer, when the "Brea Hummingbird," tiny monoplane, collapsed in mid-air at the Northern Orange county airport, has apparently continued its line with the fatal crash of their latest product at Point Loma today.

"Too flimsy construction" was the general verdict of pilots and aeronautical experts on the crash of the "Hummingbird" in which Pilot Roy Freeman of Long Beach lost his life.

Taking off from the Brea airport during the progress of an air meet there, the little ship was circling to the south of the field at an elevation of approximately 1,000 feet, when both wings folded suddenly. The plane fell like a plummet, all supporting struts abruptly short from the fuselage.

Strength of construction has characterized the two latest ships built by the Pacific Aircraft company, as the Brea concern is known. One smaller ship at the Brea airport has performed effectively and upon results obtained with this plane, the hopes for the larger trans-Pacific monoplane were based.

No lack of strength was apparently noted in the construction of the latest ship built. It was said, the jinx finding on another point of attack to bring it to earth and tragedy.

At the time of the "Hummingbird" tragedy, Thaheld, a stranger in a foreign land, distraught by the fact that his design and specifications had cost the life of a pilot, ran from the flying field and dropped completely from sight.

Tremaine, who had befriended the young man, and felt responsible for him, maintained a search lasting many weeks, which finally resulted in Thaheld's discovery in New Mexico. Making a personal trip to where the Austrian was hiding, Tremaine induced him to return to Brea and the latest ships are the joint product of the two men.

This time Thaheld remained at home. Naturally unnerved by the tragedy, he is nevertheless ready to face the situation. Knowing in his own mind, he says, that in the construction of the plane, there was no weakness due to any fault in specifications.

L. A. STILL VIOLENT

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—Provisionary measures to prevent demonstrations in connection with the Karen Vanzetti sympathy campaign, were continued here today by authorities, with a heavy guard of police officers on duty at parks and public meeting places.

Special squads of officers are being kept at various points throughout the city today.

...launched the plane, the same day at San Diego. The cause of the crash cannot be determined.

NOBLES CRASHED
From the embankment spectators could make out the charred remains of one of the flyers, but it was not until the tire had been put out that the other body was found.

Both were charred almost beyond recognition. Because of a defect in the fueling system the plane was forced down at Santa Ana Sunday evening when it attempted to fly from Los Angeles to North Island. Repairs were effected and the flight toward San Diego was continued.

At Encinitas, however, another forced landing was made when the same trouble materialized. Lieutenant L. P. Pawlikowski, attached to North Island, was first chosen to make the flight with Lieutenant Covell but was forced to withdraw because of an abrasion on his back.

Construction of the plane was begun at Brea about five weeks ago, by William Tremaine, constable at Brea, who is interested in aviation, and Fred Thaheld, young Austrian airplane designer. Their first monoplane, a small craft known as "The Hummingbird," crashed at Brea during an aviation meet a year ago last spring, killing Roy Freeman, Long Beach aviator.

GUIDED BY LESSONS

Lessons learned from this disaster guided them in the building of what came to be known as the "Brea Mystery Plane." A smaller model is now being successfully flown. All the work was done at Brea, with the exception of that on the gasoline tanks, which were built by the same men who are said to have made the tanks for Lindbergh's plane, "Spirit of St. Louis."

Today, tragically stunned Thaheld, brokenly, he insisted when interviewed that structurally there was nothing wrong with the plane and that the disaster must have occurred because Lieutenant Covell's attention was probably momentarily diverted from steering the ship.

Otto Schaeffer, of Anaheim, who made the test flights in the Brea monoplane, was greatly shaken and grieved over the tragedy. He had planned to leave by train for San Francisco today, to make further test flights in the craft, but abandoned the trip on hearing of the deaths of the two lieutenants.

Dr. William Burson of Los Angeles was understood to be the financial backer of the project. The plane was equipped with a Wright whirlwind motor, costing approximately $6,000. The total cost of the plane was approximately $15,000. It was said.

RUTH CRACKS 30

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Babe Ruth cracked out his 36th home run of the season in the third inning of today's game between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees. The blow was made off the bat of Lou Gehrig and Koenig were on base. The home run put the Babe within two of his rival, Lou Gehrig.

The plane was said to have crashed at a point where the new of the craft, and stated that Lieutenant George Covell, after taking the plane up 2,000 feet at North Island early last night, told Thaheld that he was satisfied with the ship's performance.

Thaheld was reached at the home of William Tremaine, Brea, while unnerved by the tragedy at the southern city, he maintained that the wrecking of the plane was due to no fault in its design or construction.

"From accounts of the accident," Thaheld said, "I am sure that the pilot must have had his attention focused on the instruments of the plane and accidentally ran into the embankment mentioned in dispatches."

"Lieutenant Covell took the plane up two or three times while I was in San Diego. After his longest flight, yesterday, he told me he was satisfied with the operation of the plane."

In discussing his proposed flight to San Francisco he told me that he planned to steer a straight course by compass direct from North Island to the northern city."

Thaheld personally assisted William Tremaine at every stage of the construction. He was emphatic in his declaration that the plane was strongly built.

Wage Fight to Save 'Breathless Youth'

RICHMOND, Cal., Aug. 10.—After administering artificial respiration to Hefty Britten, 27, for 52 hours, local firemen today continued their work with the belief that Britten, ill with double pneumonia, would recover.

Since 3:30 a. m. Monday the firemen have worked ceaselessly in shifts of two in three hour relays, each of the pair on duty working at the inhalator 15 minutes at a stretch.

The case, according to J. J. Barry, acting fire chief, may rival that of Harold Burman, local restaurant owner who was given artificial respiration for 297 hours last May.

Wife's Yells Revive 'Dead' Man; She Dies

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
FINDLAY, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Percy Clinton Thomas shrieked hysterically when a physician today pronounced her husband dead of cancer.

Her cries of anguish attracted the supposedly dead man and Thomas awakened.

Shocked by the sudden reversal, Mrs. Thomas collapsed and died. The undertaker who had been called to care for the body of Thomas, took the body of his wife.

Thomas lived 3 1/2 hours after his wife's death.

A double funeral will be held Friday. Mrs. Thomas was 61 years old and her husband 74.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Swearingen, are now visiting in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cook and son Billy of Olive street have returned from their trip to San Francisco and northern points.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tirinde and daughter Margaret enjoyed a show at Anaheim Thursday evening.

Mrs. J. Clark of Imperial a former resident here was visiting old friends this week.

Mrs. A. V. Enklisch is reported ill at her home on Kellore ave. nue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ponce, all of Long Beach, and Mrs. and Mrs. Jackson of Brea were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Healey of Carol Drive Wednesday.

A baby girl was born Friday morning to Mr. and Mrs. E. Moss of Edwards avenue.

Rush Improvements at Bradford School

PLACENTIA, Aug. 25.—Improvements in the Bradford street school are being rushed in order that school may open September 17. An expenditure of approximately $3,000 is involved.

The old auditorium, which lies in the middle of the North building, is being made into a large reading room and library. This necessitates an enormous amount of work, for the walls of the room, which were sliding doors except on the stage end, have to be made solid and the gallery has been taken out. Lighting and ventilation are supplied through ceiling and upper wall spaces.

The room will be equipped with study tables.

The upper rooms of the building that were formerly used as a library are being reconstructed into attractive lounge rooms for the teachers.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 25.—Miss Helen May entertained the members of her Sunday school class of the Methodist church at a watermelon supper at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer May. A swimming party at the Pullerton plunge preceded the supper.

The girls who attended were the Misses Doris Smothers, Captain Neely, Victoria Edwards, Metta Warren, Edeline Weatherman, Elmore Pickering and Doris May.

ATTEND BOOST MEET

Interesting and the prelude and interludes were most entertaining.

A string orchestra, composed of youngsters under the direction of Ramona Mulligan, played several selections.

A solo dance, by Marcelle Marshall, was acclaimed and encores were demanded of the unusually graceful performer.

Little Junior Garland, a little fellow who could hardly be seen above the beautiful bouquets of flowers that decorated the stage, gave a clever interpretation of a Russian folk dance.

Flora Farmer entertained with two readings and Margaret Davis, Margaret Fawcett, Zephia Fry and LaVine Davis sang the chorus, with Claire Fisher as soloist, of a clever comic opera style song as a prelude to the playlet, "Whim Wham."

Besides those who assisted in managing the properties and making performers at the number of 56 participated.

Four Sued After Dole Race Wreck Victors at Trial

BREA, Aug. 25.—Held in Los Angeles before Superior Judge Stephen Long and lasting four days, the trial of a suit brought by W. W. Burton against W. D. Tremaine, H. E. Becker, M. J. Wolfe and the First National bank of Brea has been settled in favor of the defendants, according to information given out here today by Attorney F. H. Jacobs of this city.

Suit was brought by Burton on the recovery of $5,000 paid on the low-winged monoplane entered in the San Francisco-Honolulu flight a year ago, and in which 150 occupants George Corvett and R. W. Waggoner, navy flyers, lost their lives when the plane crashed into Point Loma in a heavy fog on the morning of August 10, 1927.

Burton also asked for the cancellation of promissory notes aggregating $5500, given in lieu of further payment on the plane, basing his claims on the ground of fraud and alleging that the plane was improperly constructed and not built according to plans and design submitted.

However, the court held that Burton must pay the balance of the notes with interest and court costs, and that Tremaine had fulfilled his part of the contract. Expert witnesses called for Tremaine stated that the plane was the best constructed plane they had ever inspected.

Kidder & Dunn, attorney's of Hollywood, represented Burton, Dale Parks of Los Angeles, represented the First National bank, and F. H. Jacobs represented Tremaine, Becker and Wolfe in the suit.

EDWARDS ANSWERS ATTACK MADE ON HIS PUBLIC RECORD

TO THE EDITOR

As a candidate for state senator, I have been attacked in a series of vicious and untruthful statements which appear in newspaper advertisements signed by the Ball for Senator club.

I have conducted my own campaign on a basis of courtesy and fairness to my opponent. I shall use no other methods in the campaign. If I cannot be elected without descending to mud-slinging tactics, I do not wish to go to the state senate, for, important as the office is, I feel that honesty and fairness are more to be valued.

For the information of the voters, however, I desire to point out the untruths that have been published by the Ball for Senator club. They are:

That I was aligned with the Los Angeles Times against Phil Swing for congress. This is untrue.

That I worked against the Metropolitan Water bill. This is untrue.

That I made frantic efforts to stay on the State Highway commission. I made no effort whatever to do so. In fact, I submitted my resignation to Governor Richardson, who accepted it.

That I am against the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill. This statement is without a single element of truth. I am strongly in favor of pending Boulder Dam legislation and I elected will support such supplementary legislation as may come before the state legislature.

The statements of the Ball club carry the general implication that I am "controlled" by some outside influence. I might answer this by quoting such good

A frantic search by members of the party and police of Anaheim and surrounding places, the child was found in the park theater.

Bernice, who is unfamiliar with the park, became separated from her companions just at dark. Searching parties were hastily organized, and these began combing the park and town.

Following the entertainment in the Greek theater, people were stationed at every exit, watching the crowd. After 10:30 a very much frightened little girl was found huddled in the theater. She was on the verge of tears, but unharmed.

STANDARD OIL LEAD ACCUSED

Smuggled in Champagne,
But Nothing Is Done
About It, Charge

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. (UPI)

Herbert L. Pratt, chairman of a board of the Standard Oil company of New York, stood today by G. Rowland Munro, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league of New Jersey, of having to $11,100 to have some $25,000 worth of champagne smuggled into the country last spring.
Munro, who forwarded this and other allegations to president Hoover in the New Jersey Anti-Saloon league's fight to prevent the reappointment of Colonel Arthur F. Foran, New Jersey Republican, to the post of supervisor of customs here, also charged that Pratt admitted his ill and surrendered the ill.

Neither Philip Elton, collector of customs of the port of New York, nor any of his colleagues, imposed a fine of $116, nor any other penalty on Pratt for his alleged law violation, Munro alleges.

As a result the Anti-Saloon league of New Jersey demands
the removal of Elton, Foran, Henry C. Starnes, a customs collector, Thomas J. Skuse, assistant controller, George Brown, assistant collector, and George Cecile, special treasury depart-

Start Investigation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.
(UPI) — Assistant Secretary of Treasury Leosman announced today the treasury has started an investigation into charges made against customs officials of the port of New York by James K.
Dunlop, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon league.

PASSENGERS TAKEN ASHORE FROM BOAT

BUEENOS AIRES, Jan. 23. — An intercepted radio message from Colombia today said 10 passengers had been taken ashore from the steamship Chante Ven-conce, which went ashore near the northern tip of South America.

The message, which was not officially confirmed, said the passengers were taken ashore and the vessel was destroyed.

Pyle on Feb. 10, 1929, just nine days before her husband, Edwin Hendrickson, was found dead in his automobile at the Hendrickson home, and that she and Pyle used the dishes, silver and other household goods taken from the Wofford home to outfit an apartment they occupied in Los Angeles less than a month after Hendrickson's death, while not married, was the substance of testimony produced by the prosecution late yesterday when Pyle and the former Mrs.
Hendrickson, who is now Mrs.
Pyle, received their preliminary hearing on the burglary charge before Justice L. E. Morrison.
Both were held for trial and are at liberty under $250 bail each.

The father and brother of Mrs. Pyle were arrayed among her accusers at the hearing. The brother, Alfred Wofford, was called in an effort to link Pyle to the burglary, which took place on a Sunday evening. Wofford testified that he had seen his sister and Pyle together in an automobile near Fullerton on a Sunday morning before Feb.
16. He could not definitely fix that Sunday as Feb. 10, however. It was before Hendrick-son's death, he said.

More definite testimony against Pyle was given by Mrs. Mabel Dicht of 329 N. Avenue 54, Los Angeles, who said she rented an apartment to Pyle and Mrs. Hendrickson in March, 1929. She identified dishes, cut glass and other utensils said to have been taken from the Wofford home.
In articles she saw the couple packing in an apartment from which they moved to her apartment. Mrs. Hendrickson had mentioned that the articles in question were to be kept by themselves as they belonged to Pyle, the witness said. Pyle was in the room and within hearing distance, she said. He called the lid on the box in which the articles were packed, she said.

The couple occupied her apartment from March until the late fall of 1929, Mrs. Dicht testified. They were married at Indiana in November and were residing in Huntington Park at the time of their arrest, it was said.

Attorney Franklin G. West representing the defendants, alleged no defense at the hearing, accepting the charges of receiving his evidence for the impersonation of the competitor, confessing to the same, and offering to testify to the same, and the hearing was marked by frequent interruptions between him and Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett. Cautious remarks were paid back and forth and Blodgett at one point objected to a question of West as being "irrelevant."

A large crowd packed the courtroom.

NAVY AIR SITE SAID QUESTION

Chamber Directors Told That Neither Previous Location Decided

That the matter of the navy driftable base for the Pacific coast, tentatively reported as settled at the Camp Kearney site near San Diego, is not yet definite, and that neither San Diego nor San Francisco locations are entirely satisfactory was reported to directors of the Fullerton chamber of commerce at their meeting at noon today in Mc-Farland's cafe.

The navy officials are still looking for a location which will be even more satisfactory than the two, which were recently considered (UPI) choice. It was said. Weather conditions particularly have influenced the latest report that a definite decision was being withheld. It was reported. Navy field boosters were reported continuing their efforts to interest navy officials in the location there.

The Fullerton report came in for considerable discussion at the meeting. Chairman George L.
McClelland of the aeronautics committee reporting on the removal of wire from the east end and the field and urging the need for boundary lines to mark the part at night.

The proposed plan for a group of local citizens to purchase the additional acreage and hold it in trust for airport purposes was referred by the directors to the Realty board, where the plan outlined, for that body to go ahead with the assistance of cooperation from the chamber.

William Gilmore was formally taken into the board as a new director today, succeeding Henry Burdett, who recently resigned.

Announcement of the fact that the Western Union company with the cooperation of the Santa Fe railroad is considering location of a telegraph office in the business district was made at the meeting. Twenty-four hour service will be available with the placement of the Santa Ana in addition to the existing office,
at in the past, it was said.

Plans for the second meeting were announced and all who wish to attend the session on Monday night will be asked to make reservations before Saturday night with Secretary Harry May at the chamber office. The first was decided. Members of the city council and their wives are to be present at the chamber on that evening.

A resolution stating that no new constitution be placed on Mexican immigration and opposing the Dues Behnke bill as a measure which would seriously affect a national labor combination was approved by the all.

First business session of the conference in St. James palace, at which the chief delegate of each nation presented his country's naval views in general terms.

Stimson's declaration, while brief, was probably the most spectacular utterance of the day. He made no statement of American naval requirements, stressing merely that equality with Great Britain was an understood principle. He then said national defense requirements of the various nations are relative and added the significant statement.
"And therefore, if this conference can find a way by which a general reduction can be secured, our own navy can likewise be reduced."

The session was private, and a digest of the events was given to the press after the meeting.

After adjournment of the conference, it was announced the chief delegates would appoint a vice-chairman to preside at the meetings when MacDonald cannot be present because of parliamentary duties. The vice-chairman will be named in alphabetical order from the countries represented.

The conference was adjourned until next week. Separate conversations were resumed in the afternoon.

The general attitude of the five powers as presented to the conference today may be broadly outlined as follows:

United States

The United States naval strength could be reduced if the conference finds a basis for agreement. National requirements are largely relative, Stimson maintained. He said the key note of the United States requirements is parity with Great Britain.

Great Britain

Prime Minister MacDonald emphasized the necessity of Great Britain's free access to the sea to satisfy the will to live. He said that was the foundation of the British naval problem and indicated the risk to Britain in being a small island 20 miles from Europe, and dependent on sea-borne traffic.

British Empire

The empire representatives addressed the conference briefly in general terms regarding the importance of the success of the conference.

France

President Andre Tardieu elaborated on the French memorandum of Dec. 29, stressing France's claims to a large fleet because of her colonial empire.
In the memorandum France declared there could be no difficulty in justifying her national requirements, he explained.
France, he continued, will make known her tonnage requirements corresponding to her national needs and taking into account her geographical position on three seas and the extent of her colonial empire area.

Italy

Foreign Minister Dino Grandi urged the necessity for security of each country from a relative and reciprocal standpoint. He also stressed the relation of naval requirements to other armaments. He said Italy recognized the connection between armament requirements and security and accepts the principle of the League of Nations that armament should be reduced to a point compatible with defense needs.

TEST FLIGHT OF BREA PLANE IS SUCCESS

Unique Ship Subjected to Closest Examination
by Builders

With an air of mystery surrounding its participation in the trans-Pacific race for the $25,000 Dele prize, the monoplane constructed by the Pacific Aircraft company at Brea for the long flight, was being subjected to closest examination today following the completion of a successful test hop shortly before 7 o'clock last night.

Much interest has been created in Pacific coast aviation circles by the entry of a "low-winged" monoplane in the Dele race to be flown by G. H. Covell and L. P. Pawlikowsky, both naval lieutenants from North Island, San Diego. This is considered the mystery ship of the race and as a result is the subject of much interested conjecture.

The low-winged monoplane in question is the ship built by W. E. Tremaine and Fred Thaheld at Brea, which is soon to be turned over to the aviators and their backers, who is said to be Dr. William Burroughs of Los Angeles. The plane must be inspected and the qualifications of pilots officially approved by August 8, according to word received at the Brea airport where the ship is being tried out.

Work is being rushed to have all details completed and everything in perfect shape by the date set. The flight will start August 12, according to plans for the race as announced by aeronautic officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Sixteen official entrants in the Dele $25,000 prize air race from the Pacific coast to Honolulu, starting at noon August 12, were announced today by Frank A. Flynn, secretary of the contest committee. He said he understood two or three additional entries are in the mail and will be honored.

Flynn said he had received the $100 entrance fees of Fred W. Burch, Los Angeles, and Martin Jensen, Honolulu, in the mail.

Fuller Suddenly Postpones Council Meet
Until Tomorrow

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Uncertainty over the nature of Governor Alvan T. Fuller's decision in the Sacco-Vanzetti murder case was augmented by his sudden postponement of today's regular session of his executive council until tomorrow noon.

Defense forces saw it as an optimistic omen, while observers who believed the governor's decision would be adverse used the postponement to support their prediction.

If the governor intervenes in the case he would need the council's sanction. If he refuses to act and lets the execution take its course, he needs no such approval.

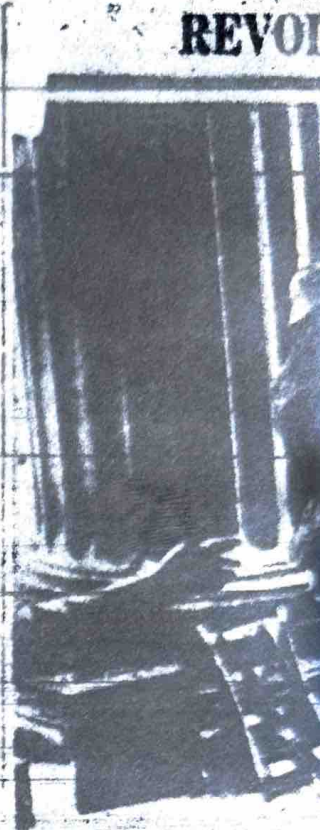

The governor has promised his decision tonight.

Sacco and Vanzetti supporters pointed to the possibility that a respite might be granted to enable the next legislature to allow the Massachusetts supreme court to grant a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence.

Fuller Suddenly Postpones Council Meet Until Tomorrow

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Uncertainty over the nature of Governor Alvan T. Fuller's decision in the Sacco-Vanzetti murder case was augmented by his sudden postponement of today's regular session of his executive council until tomorrow noon.

Defense forces saw it as an optimistic omen, while observers who believed the governor's decision would be adverse used the postponement to support their prediction.

If the governor intervenes in the case he would need the council's sanction. If he refuses to set aside the execution take its course, he needs no such approval.

The governor has promised his decision tonight.

Sacco and Vanzetti supporters pointed to the possibility that a respite might be granted to enable the next legislature to allow the Massachusetts supreme court to grant a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence.

Fullerton today mourns the loss of J. C. Shepard, pioneer citizens in the death life yesterday at the California Lutheran hospital, Los Angeles, of J. C. Shepard, aged 72 years, and for the past 24 years a resident of this city.

He but four days after he was stricken with pneumonia. Mr. Shepard's passing was an expected and a great shock to his family and friends as he appeared to be successfully combating his illness.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Dora C. Shepard, three daughters, Mrs. W. K. Fuller and Mrs. Mrs. Phyllis K. Fuller, born at Los Angeles, Mrs. Rose Shepard of Fullerton, and one son, J. C. Shepard Jr. Five grandchildren also survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard were among the 19 original members who organized the First Baptist church of Fullerton, and up to the time of his death Mr. Shepard was a deacon and an active member of the church.

Funeral services will be held in the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock today afternoon at 2 o'clock. With Rev. H. Frank Langford of Fullerton, minister, will be made in Long Valley cemetery, with McSwain and Phillips in charge.

Funeral services will be held August 10, Mr. Shepard came to California in 1870, to Los Angeles, where he had an active interest in affairs prior to settling in Fullerton at 217 East Chapman avenue in 1901. There, on an acre of bare land, which is now covered with oranges and walnut groves, he built the home.

Balchen, Navigator for Chamberlin, Is Uninjured in Crash

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire

TETERBORO FIELD, N. J., Aug. 3.—Bernt Balchen, aerial navigator who accompanied Commander Berd on his trans-Atlantic flight, narrowly escaped death this afternoon when the Fokker plane in which Clarence D. Chamberlin made his ship to shore flight Monday, crashed to the field.

Balchen was testing the plane. He had started the field several times when it suddenly plunged to earth. The landing gear and one wing were badly damaged.

Balchen received only minor bruises. Shortly after Balchen's crash, a stunt plane manned by a pilot named Smith crashed into a saw mill near the field, because of the density of undergrowth and the depth of mud, rescuers had not reached the plane at 3 p. m.

However, they could see from airplane flying above that he apparently was uninjured. Smith, a pilot with an avial clinic, was practicing stunts.

Prince of Wales as Baron Renfrew May Pay Visit to U. S.

By Daily News Tribune U.P. Leased Wire
OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3.—Possibility that the Prince of Wales may visit the United States next month to witness the international polo matches at Meadowbrook was revealed today when it became known that the approach of the September event has found the Prince more and more anxious to see the matches.

It, R. H. would visit the United States, if at all, it was believed in the insufficient disguise of the well-known Baron Renfrew. Baron Renfrew, the Prince's full name, is not the best to the throne.

Such being the case, Baron Renfrew can go places almost as an ordinary person, without donning kilt or other uniform and accompanied by most of the ceremony which would attach to the movements of a future king.

JURY PROBE OF JAIL CLOAKED IN MYSTERY

Defense Phase of Investigation to Begin Soon, Belief

The grand jury at Santa Ana was today believed to be "cleaning up" accusation witnesses in the county jail investigation, preparatory to entering the defense phase of the hearing that has been under way for a week.

While definite information regarding plans for the hearing was not available, it was understood that District Attorney Z. D. West, Jr., might conclude presentation of accusation testimony today.

Joe Buchta, central figure in the jail probe, was before the grand jury yesterday and was believed to have completed his testimony for the present, since he was not recalled today. Henry M. ("Pop") Warner, former captain of the state traffic squad in this county, replaced him as witness this morning and was expected to testify before the grand jury during most of the session. Warner's testimony was believed to be similar to that of Louis Hoffman, his former fellow officer, who was said to have filed wholesale accusations against police officers and county employees, relating to liquor parties, beside asserted irregularities at the jail.

Unique Ship Subjected to Closest Examination by Builders

With an air of mystery surrounding its participation in the trans-Pacific race for the $50,000 prize, the monoplane constructed by the Pacific Aircraft company at Brea for the long flight, was being subjected to closest examination today following the completion of a successful test hop shortly before 7 o'clock last night.

Much interest has been created in Pacific coast aviation circles by the entry of a "low whiter" monoplane in the Dole race to be flown by G. H. Covell and L. P. Pawlikowsky, both naval lieutenants from North Island, San Diego. This is considered the mystery ship of the race and as a result is the subject of much interested conjecture.

The low whiter monoplane in question is the ship built by W. E. Tremaine and Fred Thakshel at Brea, which is soon to be turned over to the aviators and their backers, who is said to be Dr. William Burden of Los Angeles. The plane must be inspected and the qualifications of pilots officially approved by August 8, according to word received at the Brea airport where the ship is being tried out.

Work is being pushed to have all details completed and everything in perfect shape by the date set. The flight will start August 12, according to plans for the race as announced by aeronautic officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—

State officials entered in the Dole $50,000 prize air race from the Pacific coast to Honolulu, starting at noon August 12, were announced today by Frank A. Flynn, secretary of the contest committee. He said he understood two or three additional entries are in the mail and will be honored.

Flynn said he had received the $100 entrance fees of Fred W. Durn, Los Angeles, and Martin Johnson, Honolulu. In the mail this morning.

Buch will fly in a monoplane but did not list its specifications. Durn did not reveal the type of his plane.

Fred Durn, Dallas, personal representative of Captain William P. Brown, one of the contestants, arrived today. He said he will plane a three motor plane of the world's best after this trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Rutherford, with the public spirit that is a pleasure to witness, gives his secret to the world, yes, today, requesting the Press to publish the good news. He also brought samples of salts that had been successfully treated, leaving their ex-hibits at the rooms of the chamber of commerce and at the Press office.

There are three formulas, all of them very cheap and one of them in this vicinity very easily to come. One is the weak solution of bicarbonate of soda, dissolved in the proportioned of a teaspoonful of soda to the teaspoonful of water. The other is a solution of salt in the same proportion, and the third, and cheapest of all in this coast section is sea water.

Any one of these might be a stage where the night has attacked a sachard cell, but the growth of the glaucous and purple. The similarity with the two notes explained that the comparison with the two notes is not a coincidence.

THE GREAT LA HABRA VALLEY

Many Improvements Under Way
in That Valley, at Brea and
at Olinda

WHEN one looks Orange county over he finds a number of sections where growth and development of the last four or five years gave him reason to marvel. Changes that to an easterner are almost incredible have been taking place. But the west is a place of rapid changes, and Orange county is typical of the very best in development. Along the line of the Pacific Electric reaching into Orange county from Los Angeles by way of Los Nietos have occurred many of the changes that are full of the romance of the new west.

Here are barley fields turned to orchards, and scores of oil well derricks tell the tale of new riches that outlast the older days of gold. Forty miners looked only for the precious metal in rough nuggets. In this twentieth century the people interested in the northernmost part of the county are finding gold, not in nuggets but in oranges and oil.

What the sugar beet industry has done in the southwestern part of the county, oranges and oil are doing in the La Habra valley and along the foothills of that section. Boldly and intelligently and with characteristic energy transformations have been worked.

The line between Los Angeles and Orange counties cuts through La Habra valley, separating citrus groves of one county from the other. Irrigation is responsible for a change that has astonished even the old residents of Orange county, used as they are to seeing orchards spring up on lands that people used to count as of no great value. On the low, rolling surface of the valley are hundreds of acres of thriving groves of Valencia oranges and lemons. Land that was worth $50 an acre is now worth $600 to $700, and with young orchards $1000 or $1100, and selling frequently at those prices. Higher prices prevail where there is good reason to believe that oil may be developed.

Handsome new ranch homes have been built all along the valley from the county line to Brea, a brand new town on the electric line five miles from the county line. Walnuts, apricots, peaches and other fruits are beginning to be grown extensively. Beauty is added to this new section by reason of the fact that orchards have a uniformity not always found in older communities. Another feature is the fact that the trees planted are of the most approved and improved stock.

The La Habra Citrus Growers' association has erected a fine new packinghouse to handle its $1000, and residence lots that were bought for $250 are sold now for $550 or $600.

Brea does not depend upon oil alone for its prosperity. True, many of the employees of the fields make their homes here, and the town lies in a valley district but recently proven to be oil bearing, yet round about Brea is an agricultural and horticultural country.

No man can tell where the development in oil will end. Right now, standing upon the edge of Brea, thirty-three oil well rigs are in sight to the south, all put up in the last year or eighteen months. These are all in the valley country, as distinguished from the rough hills where oil has been flowing from wells many years.

A substantial new schoolhouse has been erected at Brea. Two oil well supply companies have established yards here. A chamber of commerce has just been formed to aid in the work of letting the world know that Brea, though not yet two years old, is on the map to stay. The government has just recognized the new town by the establishment of a post office.

From a scenic standpoint Brea is admirably situated. The rolling country is covered with fields of barley, dotted with oil derricks. In the distance to the south is the Santa Ana Valley. To the northwest is the beautiful La Habra Valley. To the northeast are the rough hills which lined against the blue sky, have a picturesque beauty intensely attractive to any lover of nature.

The Town of Olinda

Three and a half miles south-east of Brea on the electric line is Olinda, essentially an oil district, though bordering on the productive Yorba Linda and Placentia districts. This section has been producing oil for many years. The Santa Fe cuts a large share of the oil used in operating its system from its wells located at Olinda. A Santa Fe branch from Richfield reaches Olinda. Millions of dollars have been taken out of the earth at Olinda, and many millions are still to come.

There are two or three stores and other places of business located here. The vast orchards of Placentia lie below Olinda, while on a clear day the ocean, 25 miles away, can easily be seen. The population is made up mostly of employees of the oil wells. These men are skilled laborers and draw excellent wages. The number of employees is constantly increasing with the development of the oil field.

The future holds forth much for this section of the county, from La Habra to Olinda. With orchards that will soon be bearing fine crops and the rapid spread of derricks into proven territory, the income of the section is certain to be many times what it now is. Special number Santa Ana Register.

BIBLE STUDY ON

GOD'S COVENANT AT MOUNT SINAI.

Exodus 19:1-8-Aug. 31.

"Let us have grace, whereby we may offer service with pleasing to that with reverence and awe." Hebrews 12:18-19

Twelve months after the Passover deliverance, the Israelites arrived at Mt. Sinai, but on their way they had two encounters respecting God's grace and power. At Rephidim, Moses in the name of the Lord smote the rock, and from it gushed water, abundantly refreshing Israel, and as a reward followed them through much of their subsequent journey. St. Paul, by inspiration declares that the rock represented Christ, that the sitting of the rock represented the putting of Christ to shameful death, but that only those who are the Water of Life provided for who never will drink.

Israel journeyed on, but encountered new obstacles. The Amalekites, a warlike people, considered Israel's coming as an invasion of their country, and attacked them. Naturally Israel was at a disadvantage. Yet God gave them the victory. Moses, upon a high hill, lifted his hands in prayer for the people. While he did so, success was theirs, but when he ceased this to pray, Amalek prevailed. Aaron and Hur assisted in holding up Moses' hands until the battle terminated successfully for Israel. God thus indicated that without Moses they could do nothing.

The Royal Priesthood Proffered.

God's dealings with Israel were in accord with His great covenant with Abraham. "In thee and in thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." Neither Moses nor his followers could possibly have understood the full import of this great oath-bound promise, for it is double, the spiritual portion being hidden until the First Advent. Even since then, St. Paul assures us, it is a hidden mystery, appreciated by few.

The Promise is divided into three parts: (1) Abraham and all the Ancient Worthies, whom he represented, was to have a share; (2) Abraham's Seed was to be the channel of blessing; and (3) all the families of the earth were to be blessed through these channels. But only by the light of the Holy Spirit during this Gospel Age are these depths of the Abrahamic covenant manifest.

While the Israelites knew that they were the natural heirs of the promise, it was proper that they also know that they would be unsuitable in blessing the other nations with God's Law, unless they could both keep that Law and instruct others to keep it. So a Law Covenant was made with them, and Moses appointed its mediator.

Typical of New Covenant.

St. Paul, in Hebrews 12:18-24, points us to the antitype of today's lesson. As Israel was delivered from Pharaoh and his hosts, so ultimately mankind will be delivered from Satan and his fallen angels, and from all evil influences. As Israel's journey brought them to Mt. Sinai and the Law Covenant, so the journey of God's people will bring all the faithful to Mt. Zion, God's Kingdom.

Mount Zion, Jesus has become the antitype of Moses, leader of the people

THE GREAT LA HABRA VALLEY

Many Improvements Under Way
in That Valley, at Brea and
at Olinda

WHEN one looks Orange county over he finds a number of sections where growth and development of the last four or five years gave him reason to marvel. Changes that to an easterner are almost incredible have been taking place. But the west is a place of rapid changes and Orange county is typical of the very best in development. Along the line of the Pacific Electric teachers into Orange county from Los Angeles by way of Los Nietos have acquired many of the changes that are told of the romance of the new west.

There are hazy fields turned to orchards, and some of our well-known tracks tell the tale of new roads that outwaded the sudden decay of old Fortynine, looked only for the previous metal in rough patches. In the town, the center of the people, indicated in the twentieth part of the country are found a small but interesting lot of old houses and one

What the present book tells us has done in the southwestern part of the county, sources catalogued, changing in the La Habra valley and along the foothills of that section. Boldly and intelligently and with characteristic energy, these formations have been worked

The line between Los Angeles and Orange counties cut through the La Habra valley separating the two cities of one county from the other. It is therefore responsible for a character that has a touch which even the old residents of Orange county need as they go to secure orchard property on land that people need to count as of no great value. On the low rolling surface of the valley are hundreds of acres of olive groves of Valencia situated in the famous "Land that was worth an acre is now worth a hundred." An acre is now worth about $4,000, and with younger orchards $4,000 or $11,000 and selling frequently at these prices. Higher prices prevail where there is good reason to believe that oil may be developed.

Handsome new ranch homes have been built all along the valley from the county line to Brea, a brand new town on the electric line five miles from the county line. Walnuts, apricots, peaches and other fruits are beginning to be grown extensively. Beauty is added to this new section by reason of the fact that orchards have a uniformity not always found in older communities. Another feature is the fact that the trees planted are of the most approved and improved stock.

The La Habana Citrus Growers' Association has requested a 100-

Brea does not depend upon oil alone for its prosperity. True, many of the employees of the fields make their homes here, and the town lies in a valley district that recently proved to be oil-bearing, yet much about Brea is an agricultural and horticultural country.

No man can tell where the development in our world will end. Right now, standing upon the edge at River thirty-three miles well up are in sight to the south and put up in the last year or so fifteen months. These are among the valley country, as it has been pushed from the rough hills where no has been flowing in the walls many years.

A substantial new foundation has been erected at River. Two out wells supply communities, have established gardens. A chamber of commerce is just being formed to aid in the work of helping the world know that River is there and yet has been added to the map to us. The government has just announced the treaty between the nation and the people.

[illegible]

The Town of Olinda

[illegible]

There are two types of these towns and other places not far from the oil fields. The first one is called Phlenteria in Persian. One day, when on such a day the people become aware of the necessity for work. The population immediately goes to the employment of the oil wells. The second one is called "Kishor" and draw excellent water. The number of employees is equal to the number of men with the development of the oil field.

The Indians hold their land by the cession of the county from La Habra to Orange. With orchard that will soon be bearing his crop, and the rapid spread of his influence, prosper territory, the income of the nation is certain to be many times what it now is. Special number Santa Ana River.

GOD'S COVENANT AT MOUNT SI

Exodus 19 16 Aug 31.

Let us have peace whereby we may receive our property and live with reverence and awe before the Lord. Amen

TWO months after the Passover deliverance, the Israelites arrived at Mt. Sinai, but at this way they had two valuable lessons respecting God's grace and power. At Rephidim Moses in the name of the Lord smote the rock and from it gushed water abundant, refreshing Israel and as a result followed them through much of their subsequent journey. St. Paul by inspiration declares that the rock represented Christ, that the smiting of the rock represented the pouring of Christ's precious death, but that only this is the Water of Life provided for whoever will drink.

Israel hurried on, but chastened new victories. The Amalekites, warring people, considered Israel coming as an invasion of their country and attacked them. Nations of Israel were at a disadvantage. Yet God gave them the victory. He sent upon a hill battle, lifted his hands and saved from the power of the enemy. When he did this

He said that when he received the letter, he was in the office of the American Consul in London. A woman called him and asked him to join the Fellowship Movement, saying that the fact that he had been in the army for four years and that he had been shot without mercy, they could do nothing.

The Patriarch is divided into three parts: the Abraham part, all the Ancient Writings, when he represents Way to have a place in Abraham Seed, was to be the channel of blessing, and of all the families of the earth were to be blessed through the patriarchs. But only by the light of the Holy Spirit during this Gospel Age are the depths of the Abrahamic covenant manifest.

While the Fathers knew that the Jews were the natural heirs of the promise, it was proper that they also knew that they would be unsuitable for receiving the other nations with God's Father in mind - they could both keep that Law and instruct others to keep it. So, a new covenant was made with them and Moses appointed its mediator.

NEW MENACE IN OIL TANK FIRE

Cyclonic Whirls Strike Countrywide Near San Luis Obispo Today

Special Dispatch to Daily News Tribune
SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 9.—A new menace from the blazing oil tank farm near here spread terror throughout the countryside today. Cyclonic eddies of gas formed in the huge blaze which covers an area three miles long and one and one half miles wide are sweeping out from time to time dealing destruction.

One today struck the home of Bert Banks half a mile from the fire area, which had previously been partially destroyed and completely demolished it. A garage was picked up and carried across a road.

As a result the coast highway main artery of travel between Los Angeles and San Francisco, has been closed and automobiles are forced to take a long detour around the fire area. The Edna road is also closed. American Legion guards are patrolling the roads.

Three gas eddies act in exactly the manner of a miniature cyclone and were liable to strike at any point on the country side in the vicinity of the fire. It was said. As a result approximately thirty homes were abandoned today by their owners.

In addition to the huge area covered by the burning oil scores of little arroyos and valleys are carrying off streams of burning oil.

Between 25 and 30 tanks were ablaze today following the explosion of one of the last steel over ground tanks.

P. E. SERVICE THROUGH HERE

Track Burned At Bren; Temporary Phone Circuits Laid

Although several hundred feet of the Pacific Electric track and trolley lines are down near the Bren station on account of the fire, through service is being operated between Fullerton and Los Angeles. In addition to the regular service there will be cars leaving Fullerton at 8:35 and 10 o'clock tonight for Los Angeles. Also cars leaving Los Angeles at 8:05 and 11:35 p. m. for Fullerton. This additional service may continue for several days.

Telephone circuits out of Bren to the Fullerton exchange were burned through early last evening and all night long workers toiled to restore service, which was limited to five minutes and warning of indefinite delay in completing calls.

Man Recovering From Shock of Lightning

B. T. Fiddis, employed on the Union tank farm at Stewart station, which is now in flames, was today recovering from the effects of shock and exposure when he was struck by the bolt of lightning which ignited the huge oil reservoir.

Mr. Fiddis was taken to the Bren Emergency hospital where he is reported as responding to treatment in good shape, and will recover within a short time.

No other serious injuries have been reported from the scene of the fire.

FLAMES STILL UNCONTROLLED

Fight Losing Battle To Save Remaining Tanks At Stewart Station

Fullerton lay under a heavy pall of black smoke today and uneasy tension pervaded the atmosphere as the rumbling detonations of the sprawling oil reservoir on the Stewart Station tank farm of the Union Oil Company near Bren continued to send flames hundreds of feet in the air, still out of control this afternoon.

Several thousand men under the direction of Superintendent R. A. Brown continued a losing fight with the gigantic flames, which started at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning from a bolt of lightning.

Boils Over Top
 Heated to a boiling point by the intense heat of the raging flames the oil swept out of the reservoir and down the slope of the reservoir, across the Pacific Electric tracks and destroyed nearly twenty acres of fine walnut, property of J. D. Slevens. Several houses were destroyed on Cedar street and on the lease west of the tanks near the refinery, which was also destroyed in a flood of flaming oil last night.

Employees of the Union Oil Company living on the tank farm and residents of the district adjacent, vacated their homes yesterday afternoon and several hundred took refuge in Fullerton homes and hotels last night.

Car Is Crushed
 Three houses were unroofed by a "twister" which originated in the depression south of the fire and swept across Cedar street. The roof of one of these houses landed on the small roadster owned by Dr. George L. McClelland of Fullerton, wrecking it badly. McClelland was with a group of friends and relatives nearby when the cyclone performed its action and

CYCLONE MENACE FEARED IF MORE GASOLINE TANKS BURN

Sudden Eddy Unroofs Houses, Does Damage On Cedar Street In Bren; Slevens Orchard Damages by Boiling Oil, House Burned

A fourth 750,000 barrel reservoir of crude oil was believed doomed this afternoon by the fire which is burning furiously in three other tanks of equal size only a short distance away in the Stewart Station tank farm of the Union Oil company half a mile west of Bren.

Damage already done to the property by flames, which have been burning since two of the huge reservoirs were struck by lightning at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, is estimated at more than $5,000,000.

According to a report from an authentic source this afternoon, two of the huge tanks were full to capacity of crude oil and the third was within four feet of the top. Pumping on the fourth tank has lowered it somewhat but a huge volume of oil remains.

Frank crews of fire fighters from Long Beach and Wilmington were being rushed to the conflagration by the Shell Oil company and workers from practically every oil field and oil company in Southern California were aiding the fight.

Frantic efforts were being made by workers to protect the tank to the west of the flaming reservoir, but it was momentarily expected to ignite. Northerly winds added to the danger of losing the fourth tank, but meant greater protection for a large reservoir of 1,000,000 barrels capacity 500 feet to the north, which has thus far escaped damage.

The westerly tank is expected to go before this evening despite efforts by fire fighters to construct dikes and trenches to turn back flaming oil, which boils over at many points every hour.

Contrary to reports sent out on various news wires, the danger of a fire is not considered in serious danger from overlying flaming oil as a deep ravine separated the tank from the danger of flaming oil being carried toward Fullerton by the geographical condition does not readily permit such action.

"Not a casualty of importance," was the word given out by A. D. Clayton, one of the superintendents for the Union Oil Company, shortly before noon today to a group of Bren citizens as they calmly watched the huge oil fire located about a mile west of the town of Bren. This report was made after Mr. Clayton had made a complete check-up and spoke volumes for the systematic control and safety device, which have been inaugurated by the operations of this company since the start of one of the greatest fires ever recorded in Southern California.

Control Traffic
 All this morning a parade of automobiles passed through Fullerton to witness the spectacle. Police control was evident on every hand and the curious were restricted from driving their cars closer than a mile from the fire by employees of the Union Oil Company, who were stationed at all of the main roads. Repaired side streets, with men in the center of the street stopping everyone except officials of the Union Oil Company and employees of the telephone company, who were madly trying to establish communications, and the police.

From All Over Southland
 Automobiles bearing license tags from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana—in fact from all of Southern California bore testimony that the news had spread fast, and thousands of persons were streaming into Bren to witness the fire and were further surprised to learn that interest was greatly accented.

Was Real Cyclone
 Observers of the storm said it was a real cyclone. Residents said that the storm had with a twisting motion, and had apparently originated in the vicinity of the Slevens ranch, caused by cold wind and the hot air caused by the fire. Some of the citizens expressed the fear that another might result.

Donald Shaffer, who with other boys were looking young Shaffer's glasses, had been lost in the fire. Shaffer was returning home after viewing the fire when all of a sudden he was hit by a cyclone. His companions were thrown to the ground. Shaffer, who lost his glasses, hat, and received a blow on the head from a small board, was injured him slightly.

The home of W. G. Slevens, just off Cedar street, was badly damaged. The entire front of the paper was pulled off by the wind, leaving all of the furniture exposed to the elements. The owner, H. A. Delaney, was making a vain effort to save the services of a roofing concern in order that repairs could be made before it rained. The owner estimated his damage at $300.

were in the path of the storm as it struck with unexpected sudpart of Brea unscathed.

R. Volk Reports Gains in Plan of Community Advertising

Real progress was reported in the community advertising campaign by A. R. Volk, chairman of the merchants committee, at the board of directors meeting of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce held this noon at noon's cafe.

He report from Jack Prizer, chief of the special cannery committee in which he reported a large cannery would be built in Fullerton in the near future met with enthusiastic response of the directors.

In informal round-table discussion of the junior college problem for Fullerton was led by T. Boyce, Dean of the Fullerton Junior college and Louis Plummer, principal of the Fullerton Union high school, who been especially invited to present their views.

Dean Boyce, in a brief talk, e a resume of existing conditions, in which he again called attention to the progress, which junior colleges were doing throughout the state of California. He said that he had a real opportunity existing for building a big institution in northern Orange county, which would be a credit to the community. Dean Boyce Mr Plummer were asked questions on this subject by members of the board of directors.

An invitation was read from Orange County Chamber of Commerce to the board of directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to be out at a dinner and take part in an extensive boat ride and Newport Bay, the even of April 22, which was unanimously accepted.

HUGE UNDERGROUND RESERVOIRS AT BREA SEETHING IN FLAMES

Declare Loss Will Exceed $2,000,000 as 300 Men Battle Raging Fire; Windows Shattered In Brea From Terrific Explosion Early This Morning

Struck simultaneously by lightning, two huge 800,000 barrel underground oil reservoirs on the "Tank Farm" of the Union Oil Company of California, located at Stewart Station, one mile west of Brea, ignited with a terrific blast shortly after 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Plate glass windows in Brea stores were shattered by the blast, which was felt slightly in Fullerton. Despite the extent of the blast, no one was injured by the explosion.

Flames shot 500 feet in the air as the lightning struck, eye-witnesses declared and burning fragments of the wooden roofs, which covered the reservoirs, were blown directly over the town of Brea by a strong westerly wind.

400 Men Fight Flames

Four hundred men were rushed to the scene of the fire at once and every effort was made by company officials to remove all possible oil from the tanks by pumping from beneath the flames. Foam, mud and water were being used in an effort to check the flames, which threaten to spread to 10 other large tanks in the field.

In preparation for an expected upheaval when the reservoirs boil over, huge dikes are being erected below the tanks and to protect large metal containers near by.

No accurate check of the amount of oil in the tanks has been obtained, but estimates of an oil company official in the field placed the possible loss at $2,000,000.

Loss Over $2,000,000

One reservoir contained oil valued at $1.75 a barrel and the other held lower grade fuel at $1.40 per barrel, it was said.

Huge clouds of smoke billowed into the air throughout the day attracting thousands of persons from surrounding districts. Guards were thrown about the flaming tanks and all spectators are being kept at a safe distance.

Fire Fighter Hurt

One fire fighter, a Brea high school boy, was slightly injured and was taken to the Brea emergency hospital.

Brea fire department apparatus has been called out to protect houses near the scene of the flames and Union oil workers are moving out of their homes on the lease surrounding the tank farm as a precautionary measure which is feared necessary in event of the tanks boiling over, which is expected this afternoon.

The J. E. Keale ambulance was called to the scene this morning by oil company officials, who are taking every precaution for the safety of workers.

The huge tanks, which are almost as large as a city block in area and mostly below the surface with banks up earth around them, are being protected further by additional dikes and trenches. Efforts to stem the expected overflow of boiling oil are being made by the large force of workers in this way.

TWO KILLED IN OIL EXPLOSION

San Luis Obispo Tank Farm Fire Spreads; $16,000,000 Loss

Special Dispatch to Daily News Tribune

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 8.—Two men were killed and a girl was probably fatally injured today when their home was demolished by a terrific explosion of two huge 1,300,000 barrel oil tanks in the fire which is destroying the Union Oil company's tank farm near San Luis Obispo.

The explosion rocked the district for miles around and hope for stemming the raging inferno of flames was abandoned.

The dead are W. F. Reeder and his son, Frederick Reeder. The explosion demolished their home, hurling them through the wall of the house and killing them instantly.

Reeder's 18-year-old daughter, Dorris, was injured so severely that little hope was held for her recovery.

With the explosion tremendous clouds of smoke rolled up from the burning tank farm, hiding it completely from the hundreds of weary workers who have been fighting the blaze, and making it impossible for them to penetrate or even approach the inferno of flames.

The fire fighters abandoned their efforts to save the 300-acre tank farm which became a seething cauldron of heat and smoke and devoted their desperate efforts to the saving the surrounding countryside.

Boiling and bubbling oil from two of the 720,000-barrel tanks flowed out over the neighboring territory and an area of fifty acres was covered with oil. Plovers and steam shovels were used in a frantic effort to stem the flood and keep the two highways which skirt the tank farm from being closed.

NEVADA DIVORCE LAW UPHOLD BY HIGH COURT

San Francisco P. P. Press Wire
CARSON CITY, Nev., Aug. 4.—
The state supreme court today unanimously upheld Nevada's new three months divorce law.
The application for writ of inhibition to stop the act from being effective was denied.
The new law went into effect.

The dispute upon which the court ruled was whether the old six months divorce law was an initiative or legislative act. If it were an initiative the legislature could not change an act of this kind.
The court, however, held that the law was a legislative act, and the legislature was within its powers to change it when it found it "by shortening the time of residence from six to three months."

OFFICERS DENY BREA AIRPLANE RUM CHARGES TO BE FLOWN BEFORE JURY TO BAY CITY

Anahelm C. O'Leary, Chief Quizzed on Quizzing of Traffic Man

Representatives of the state traffic department today went before the county grand jury at Santa Ana.
Inspector Walter P. Greer and Traffic Officer Floyd G. Vanderwerf, among the early witnesses, both are believed to have testified that no liquor was ever consumed in the traffic department at the courthouse. One none of the traffic officers, to their knowledge, had ever been intoxicated while on duty.
Chief of Police J. S. Martin, of Anaheim, was before the grand jury today to deny it was understood, statements asserted to have been made to the grand jury
by Royce G. Gorman, discharged Anaheim traffic officer, who was reported to have charged that he was dismissed because he arrested a woman motorist who had influential friends in the sheriff's office.

Jackson J. Parks, former San Francisco newspaper man now connected with a film company at Hollywood, failed to appear yesterday in answer to a subpoena and preparations were being made by District Attorney E. H.
West Jr. to start a search for him if he did not appear today.
Parks is said to have signed an affidavit stating that he was beaten by deputy sheriffs who arrested him at Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gantz, of Brea, were waiting to testify today. Among the witnesses who were called by the grand jury yesterday were: Rudolph Bloch, Traffic Officer Walter Meyer, C.
N. Harder, chief inspector for the state motor vehicle department, Sacramento; Paul Swenson, Earl Wood and Andrew Gane, of Folsom, and former sheriff C. E. Jackson.

District Attorney West today was studying the second refusal of Special Agent Atherton, in charge of the department of justice at Los Angeles, to give the district attorney access to federal files relating to evidence concerning the Orange county jail.

torney General W. W. Blodgett closed the department of justice yesterday. Atherton, however, refused an earlier refusal to allow inspection of the files. It was understood that his refusal was based on the fact that Webb's disfranchisement was not directed personally to the federal agent.
Webb announced that he had abandoned the attempt and has other plans for securing the files. Webb, however, explained evidence of importance to the local investigation.

Flight to San Diego Is Scheduled, With Test Pilot at Controls

Having passed successfully

Dr. William H. H. of Los Angeles, was to fly the big ship to North Island, where preparations for its arrival and tuning up had been made.

Services of a Wright whirlwind motor expert will be available there for a final tuning of the engine and various other experimental details will be completed there, it was said.

Final decision as to who will accompany Lieutenant G. H. Co-olulu ship, has not been announced, several names having been suggested as possibilities. The ship is still somewhat of a mystery, in coast aviation circles and as such is attracting widespread interest in its entry in the race.

Coolidge Arrives at Deadwood to Be Named Sioux Chief

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 4.— President Coolidge rode three hours by special train today to come to this town, a mining town to be made chief of the Sioux tribe.

The special train left Custer
at 10:45 and arrived here after a scenic trip through the Black Hills at 1:40 p. m.

Year had been expressed that because of Governor Fuller's declaration to replace the death sentence of Sacco and Vanzetti in Massachusetts yesterday, there might be some demonstrations among the large groups of miners and the foreign element here. But there was nothing but applause for the President.

The secret service had been especially notified to be on watch for any untoward event and cavalry patrolled the streets as the presidential pa-ty arrived.

Four hundred Indians, who were to proclaim Mr. Coolidge as an Indian chief, welcomed him at the amusement park outside of town and squares waved enthusiastically at the chief executive.

as the 1928 convention city by delegates to the legion convention here today.

Will Gills, of Santa Ana, who was conceded to have the better chance to defeat Jackson, withdrew shortly before the election was called and Jackson was elected without opposition. An winning next year's assembly Stockton defeated Maryville, and

GENEVA FAILURE VITAL BLOW TO DISARMING

Piercy Collapse Gives Arms Slash Great- est Setback

DELEGATES' LAST STATEMENTS WARM

British Unwillingness to Negotiate on Cruiser Stand Blamed

By Daily News Tribune P. P. Press Wire
GENEVA, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge's conference to limit auxiliary naval craft—miners, destroyers and submarines—culminated today and its failure was interpreted as the most serious setback to hopes for disarmament among the nations of the world.

The conference met in plenary session this afternoon and adjourned after slightly more than an hour.

A joint statement by the delegations of Japan, Great Britain and the United States was interpreted as having revealed the conference to have suffered even greater failure than the most pessimists had anticipated.

The final statements of the delegates made no provision for resumption of the conference and their words did not conceal the bitterness and recrimination which has plagued Mr. Coolidge's effort to initiate naval limitation.

Although the conference had succeeded in reaching agreement on limitation on submarines and destroyers, even that was not translated into a compact which would have bound the signatories to remain within certain quotas.

Hugh S. Gibson, principal American delegate, opened and closed today's final session.

"Since there is lying on the table Mr. Baldwin," said Gibson, referring to the British First Lord of the Admiralty, "and land's final proposals, I am fore-casted to find an acceptable basis for agreement have not been successful."

There was widespread speculation here regarding the effect the failure would have on the League of Nations disarmament plans. The league's preliminary disarmament conference met here last spring and failed.

It was decided that the conference should be reconvened after the Coolidge conference on the expected success of the latter conference might be attributed as a foundation stone upon which to base the former upon reconstruction. That hope, perished with the final adjournment today of the Coolidge conference, which has been in session more than a month.

Baldwin read Tinsdale's latest proposals, dated today. They announced that England was ready to limit its fleet, on those terms on which agreement of

The Right Man

of District Attorney is one important to be filled at the election, and every citizen in the county is directly interested in the right man for this position. It is H. C. Head, who of his natural ability and training is pre-eminently our next prosecuting attorney. He is 32 years of age, and his education is from the University of the State at San Francisco. He was graduated from the law college in 1891, receiving the degree of LL. B. After teaching for two years in one of the grammar schools of Orange county, he entered the law office of Messrs. Isbell and Gregg, who are the foremost of the United States and also in the federal courts in San Francisco. He has been practicing law in the courts of Orange county for three years. During that time he has handled a large number of cases, both civil and criminal, and at least nine-tenths of his cases have been successful. He is a very different from that of a common lawyer, being thorough in his knowledge of the law and practice, and a brilliant trial lawyer. Double track it is learned that the Electric Railway company is making every effort to complete the line through Whittier and

Land Purchase in La Habra

The Townsend-Robinson Investment company of Long Beach, in which J. F. Isbell and A. H. Gregg of Whittier are largely interested, has bought 230 acres of fine walnut and orange land of the Stearns Ranch company. The tract is in La Habra valley, in the fruit belt, in which is situated the land on which Edward Records had an option. The same people have purchased Stowell & Chaffey 200 inches of water from the East Whittier ditch, which is to be put on the land by means of a new pipe, in ample time for the next irrigating season. It is understood that the plan is to subdivide the tract into ten and twenty-acre lots, which will be put on the market. It is rumored that a townsite will be platted, and a new town started on the tract. If this is true, the new city will have the electric road through the tract, and the Santa Ana Gas and Electric company's light and power line also crosses it. This would give the new city all the comforts of home right from the start. Messrs. Isbell and Gregg will, it is understood, handle the sales of water stock for the East Whittier system.

Edward Records, who promoted the sale of the East Whittier ditch to Stowell & Chaffey, having disposed of his holdings in La Habra valley, has transferred the agency for the sale of the water of that company, and, with Mrs. Records, will leave in a few days for San Francisco.

Fumigation of Orchards.

The agricultural department of the University of California is making extensive experiments in the fumigation of orange orchards to destroy the cottony cushion scale, which infests trees throughout the citrus belt. J. S. Hunter, an assistant in the department, has just returned with data obtained in personal investigations in the south. Hydrocyanic acid is burned beneath the orange trees, over which is placed a canopy, or tent, to prevent the escape of the gas. The use of the acid is dangerous, in that too liberal fumigation kills the tree, while too little will not destroy the pest.

It was Hunter's mission to determine the size of the fumigation tent which could best be used. As the result of his labors, a bulletin will shortly be issued, giving correct information on the use of the acid for fumigation.

Reduction in Lemon Rates

Lemon growers of Southern California will be overjoyed to learn of the latest concession of the railroads on a rate for winter shipments of that fruit into eastern markets. Announcement was made yesterday by both the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe companies that on and after December 1, until the following April 30, the rate of $1 per hundred will be charged on lemons in carload lots from all California points, where the rate heretofore has been $1.25.

In former seasons it has been urged by the growers that the rate of $1.25 was so high that he was unable to get his product into the east with any profit, and that in many instances it would have been better to have dumped the fruit than to have landed it. Now it is hoped he will have better show in competition with foreign lemons. It was stated yesterday that the growers can ship his fruit east under the new rate at a fair profit.

The winter rate ought to be low, inasmuch as good prices can be obtained only in warm weather.

A Good Man Gone

The Times was pained to hear of the death of Hon. D. M. Baker, editor of the Santa Ana Bulletin. In his death we have lost a good friend, so have hundreds of people in Orange county. Dan Baker was one of the ablest editors who ever came to California. He was firm in his convictions, honest in his belief and fearless in expressing his views. He was an honest, wholehearted, liberal-hearted man. He thought a great deal of his family and never went back on a friend in his life.

Sixteen or seventeen years ago the editor of the Times met his first type in Dan's office. He called it his den. We found him a gentleman—a man who wanted to give every body a square deal. "D. M.," as he was familiarly known, was admired and liked by every employe in the office from the "devil" up. Peace to his ashes.

A Valuable Dollar

Our townman, E. Adams, has a silver dollar he values highly. He was offered $25 for it several years ago. It was made in 1798; it is larger than dollars of the present day and has the words, "One dollar One hundred cents," around the outside of the coin. The coin is well worn, but still weighs more than a new dollar of late make. Mr. Adams has had the coin over thirty years.

Board of Trade Meeting

At Tuesday night's meeting of the new board of trade the electric light committee's report was read and approved, the directors being instructed to enter into an agreement with Edison company for installing twenty incandescent street lights. Spruce street will be lighted from American avenue to the depot and the block east and west of the avenue will also have a number of lights. The agreement calls for a three-cent overnight schedule at $16 a month for the twenty lights. Installing the service will cost $190, which will be paid by the electric light people.

A resolution was passed urging the directors to appoint some one to act as supervisors to lay out a fire district here, in accordance with the state law, and take steps to vote a special tax to buy the apparatus for the city and community. It is believed the expense of installing the service will not exceed $100.

WILL STAND BY LA HABRA

A committee consisting of E. Johnson, A. Freestier and C. C. Brady brought in the following resolution:

Whereas, It has been reported to the Board of Trade that certain rumors have been circulated through-out La Habra valley to the effect that Fullerton merchants have been working against the building of an electric road through La Habra valley;

Be it resolved, That this Board of Trade most emphatically and unanimously deny any and all such rumors.

Further, That we, as a commercial body and as individuals, realizing the importance of the road to the valley and its people, have done and will do all that lies in our power to assist the people of La Habra, knowing that our interests are mutual.

The report was adopted with the request that the papers publish it.

New names were enrolled as follows, increasing membership to 12: J. E. Davis, C. C. Chapman, W. L. Hale, George Kuddick, D. S. Limberger, A. Sutton, Dr. Freeman, Don Whitson, A. McPherson, C. Kuddick, J. S. Rogers.

of District Attorney is one so important to be filled at the best, and every citizen in the county is directly interested in the selection of the right man for this post. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that the man chosen should be of the highest caliber, and of his natural ability and training. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that the man chosen should be of the highest caliber, and of his natural ability and training.

After teaching for two years at one of the grammar schools in Orange county, he entered the College of Law in San Francisco, completing the three years' course, receiving the degree of LL. B. in 1901. In the law college Mr. Head had practical experience as a member of one of the foremost law firms in the United States and also in the federal courts in San Francisco.

For more than six years he has been practicing law in the courts of Orange county. During that time he has handled a large number of cases, both civil and criminal, and at least nine-tenths of his business is in the practice of law. He is a very different man from that of the average lawyer; being thorough, under the law and practical. Mr. Head has become one of the most successful attorneys in the county, and his reputation of being accurate and up-to-date in the practice of the law and the courts is well known. He is also a forcible speaker, and a brilliant trial lawyer, being especially strong in criminal cases.

He has a family and owns his own building and other property in the city, and is thoroughly identified with the interests of Orange county. He has always been exemplary in his conduct, and his integrity has never been questioned. He is just in the strength of manhood, with all the energy and ambition necessary to overcome any and all obstacles.

His only promise to the voters is that he will perform the duties of the office fully and impartially, without fear or favor, and those who know that this is exactly what he will do for he recognizes neither party nor prejudice in the performance of his duty.

If the voters of Orange county will support him, they will support the best man for the office.

Land Purchase in La Habra

The Townsend-Robinson Investment company of Long Beach, in which J. F. Tobell and A. H. Gregg of Whittier are largely interested, has bought 220 acres of fine walnut and orange land of the Stearns Rancho company. The tract is in La Habra valley, in the frontless belt of which is situated the land on which Edward Records had an option. The same people have purchased of Stowell & Chaffey 200 inches of water from the East Whittier ditch, which is to be put on the land by means of cement pipes, in apple time for the next irrigating season. It is understood that the plan is to subdivide the tract into ten and twenty-acre lots, which will be put on the market. It is rumored that a townsite will be platted, and a new town started on the tract. If this is true, the new city will have the electric trolley through the tract, and the Santa Ana Gas and Electric company's light and power line also crosses it. This would give the new city all the comforts of home right from the start. Messrs. Tobell and Gregg will, it is understood, handle the sale of water stock for the East Whittier system.

Edward Records, who promoted the sale of the East Whittier ditch to Stowell & Chaffey, having disposed of his holdings in La Habra valley, has surrendered the agency for the sale of the water of that company, and, with Mrs. Records, will leave in a few days for San Francisco.

Fumigation of Orchards.

The agricultural department of the University of California is making extensive experiments in the fumigation of orange orchards to destroy the cottony cushion scale, which infests trees throughout the citrus belt. J. S. Hunter, an assistant in the department, has just returned with data obtained in personal investigations in the south. Hydrocyanic acid is burned beneath the orange trees, over which is placed a canopy, or tent, to prevent the escape of the gas. The use of the acid is dangerous in that too liberal fumigation kills the trees, while too little will not destroy the pest.

It was Hunter's mission to determine the size of the fumigation tent which could best be used. As the result of his labors, a bulletin will shortly be issued, giving correct information on the use of the acid for fumigation.

Republican Circular Letter

"My Dear Sir: Your Central Committee feel that we can consistently ask you to assist us in electing the whole Republican ticket on November 4th. Reduction in Lemon Rates

Lemon growers of Southern California will be overjoyed to learn of the latest concession of the railroads on a rate for winter shipments of that fruit into eastern markets. Announcement was made yesterday by both the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe companies that on and after December 1, until the following April 30, the rate of 31 per hundred will be charged on lemons in carload lots from all California points, where the rate heretofore has been 41.25.

In former seasons it has been urged by the growers that the rate of 41.25 was so high that he was unable to get his product into the east with any profit, and that in many instances it would have been better to have dumped the fruit than to have handled it. Now it is hoped he will have better show in competition with foreign lemons. It was stated yesterday that the growers can ship his fruit east under the new rate at a fair profit.

The winter rate ought to be low, inasmuch as good prices can be obtained only in warm weather.

A Good Man Gone

The Tribune was pained to hear of the death of Hon. D. M. Baker, editor of the Santa Ana Bulletin. In his death we have lost a good friend, as well as a hundred of people in Orange county. Dan Baker was one of the ablest editors who ever came to California. He was born in his convictions, honest in his belief and fearless in expressing his views. He was an honest, wholehearted, liberal-hearted man. He thought a great deal of his family and never went back on a friend in his life.

Sixteen or seventeen years ago the editor of the Tribune met his first type in Dan's office—he called it his den. We found him a gentleman—a man who wanted to give everybody a square deal. "D. M.," as he was familiarly known, was admired and liked by every one who came in contact with him. He was in the office from the "devil" up to the "angel" down.
